

Super Bomb Threat By Khrushchev

Warns of Weapon More Powerful Than 'H' Bomb

MOSCOW (AP)—Premier Khrushchev brandished the threat of a super-super-bomb five times more powerful than the average American hydrogen bomb Wednesday night but claimed once more he is a man of peace.

"We do not want war . . . only lunatics think of a war," the Soviet leader declared.

Kennedy Peace Vow On Berlin

Believes Summit Meeting Useless At This Time

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy declared today the United States will use "every diplomatic means" to try to find a peaceful solution of the Berlin dispute with the Soviet Union.

And at another point in his news conference he said tersely: "We're hopeful" of a peaceful solution to the problem.

Kennedy said he thought a summit meeting with Soviet Premier Khrushchev would not be useful unless the groundwork were carefully laid beforehand. But he said a summit session of Western government chiefs should be held if necessary in "coordinating our policy."

Kennedy replied with evidently deliberate restraint to questions about speeches made by Khrushchev this week. The Soviet premier has lashed at the United States and its allies because of their announced determination not to yield their war-won rights to stay in West Berlin.

Khrushchev accused the Allies of aggressive intent toward Russia and in a rocket-rattling Moscow statement Wednesday night he threatened to develop a nuclear super bomb more powerful than anything in existence.

Kennedy said there was no new policy position in Khrushchev's latest statement — no new proposals although Khrushchev "did speak of negotiations."

On this point Kennedy said "it is the strong conviction of the United States government that every diplomatic means must be employed" to see if a peaceful solution can be achieved.

Coffee Plant Blast Kills 2; Injures 6

GRANITE CITY, Ill. (AP)—A wing of a coffee plant blew up with a terrific roar Wednesday afternoon, killing two men and injuring six.

Rescue crews, digging with their hands in a driving rain, finally uncovered the bodies of two victims early today.

They were Shelby Dotson, 22, of Granite City, and Victor Frisze, 37, who lived in nearby Edwardsville.

The blast took place in a 2½-story brick building of the Nestle Co., Inc., instant coffee manufacturers. Cause of the explosion was undetermined.

A crew of more than 100 men—many of them construction workers who were on strike—worked for hours with the aid of four giant cranes, bulldozers and earthmovers to clear away debris to get to the buried men.

James Shane, 33, Granite City painter working on an industrial structure nearby, said:

"When I turned around I saw a great big puff of smoke and the building seemed to disappear. Then it just collapsed."

The blast shook the ground for at least 12 blocks in all directions. The blast blew in the large plate glass window of the Bob Huggins tavern, just across the street. Several people were inside but none were hurt.

Large boiler-like percolators and drying equipment were housed in the wing in which the blast occurred.

Corn, Wheat Forecast Less For This Year

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department today forecast this year's production of corn for harvest as grain at 3,352,037,000 bushels and the wheat crop at 1,204,096,000 bushels.

The corn estimate is 176,860,000 bushels more than last month's forecast of 3,175,177,000 bushels. It compares with last year's production of 3,891,212,000 bushels and with the ten-year (1950-59) average of 3,013,797,000 bushels.

The wheat figure is 54,911,000 bushels less than last month's prediction and 1,094,770,000 for the ten-year average.

Heart Attack Fatal to Gen. Bedell Smith

Planning Genius Of WWII Fame Is Dead at 65

WASHINGTON (AP)—Walter Bedell Smith, soldier, diplomat, jut-jawed genius of military planning, died Wednesday of a heart attack. He was 65.

Death came to the general as an ambulance rushed him to Walter Reed Army Hospital. He had suffered the attack at his home here.

Smith served the government in various posts for 43 years. It honored him as few men in history have been honored — with four distinguished Service medals.

As a soldier, Smith rose from a private in the Indiana National Guard to coordinator of the entire planning of the invasion of North Africa and Normandy in World War II. He was Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower's chief of staff through most of the war, the team becoming known as "Ike and Beetle."

Eisenhower once described him as "the general manager of the war." On behalf of Eisenhower, Smith signed the Italian surrender document in September 1943 and in May 1945 he headed the Allied group which accepted the unconditional surrender of Germany.

Later when Eisenhower became President in 1953, the team was revived as Smith became undersecretary of state, second in command and sometime stand-in for Secretary John Foster Dulles.

The Soviet leader once more declared his determination to sign a peace treaty with East Germany that would give that Communist regime control over Western access to Berlin.

"We believe there will be no war after this (treaty)," he said. "Only lunatics think of a war after a peace treaty. . . . We are not threatening anybody but if anyone attacks us we will consider it an act of suicide. We will destroy him by counterblows. We have spent money on rockets and bombs and they are not for cutting sausages."

He charged the West with making threatening moves against the Soviet Union and said, "Fools, what do you think you are doing?"

The reception for Titov got off to a breezy, informal start when the spaceman bulletined down a line of waiting diplomats, nodding right and left instead of shaking hands.

Khrushchev tried to overtake him but the 67-year-old premier was no match for the airman 41 years his junior. Titov and his wife made it to the end of the line in less than 30 seconds.

Khrushchev caught his star guest finally and led him back to the head of the line.

The hijacker, identified as Albert Charles Cadon, 27, an itinerant French artist and New York City restaurant worker, was taken from the plane by Cuban militia and held in Havana. The FBI later said he had a long record of mental disturbance.

September Draft Call At 25,000

Next Month's Call Reflects First Manpower Impact

WASHINGTON (AP)—The draft quota for September was set today at 25,000 men, biggest since the end of the Korean War.

The Defense Department announcement for the September call reflected the first full-scale manpower impact of the military buildup, although a smaller increase had been made in the August call through revision of the initially announced quota.

As usual all draftees for September will be for the Army, now getting ready to build up three training divisions into combat units.

The announcement said, "The Navy, Marine Corps and Air Force do not intend to place calls with Selective Service during September."

The September call is the largest since June 1953 when the quota was 32,000.

It will bring the total of men who have been drafted since September 1950, immediately after the outbreak of the Korean War to 2,640,950.

The Pentagon said the September quota is calculated against the expected input of manpower from volunteer and re-enlistment sources.

President Kennedy in his speech to the nation last month said quotas might be doubled or tripled.

At that time the quota for August had been set at 8,000. Later it was revised to 13,000.

From January through the initially set quota for August, the average monthly quota worked out to about 3,300.

This was because of low quotas or no quotas during some months.

In April the quota was only 1,500. In May and June there were no calls.

Three Die In Gunfight

Hijackers Strike On Cuban Airliner

HAVANA (AP)—Enemies of Fidel Castro attempted to hijack a Cuban airliner in flight Wednesday. A gun battle erupted on board and three persons — including the pilot — were killed and six were wounded. The copilot crash-landed in a sugar cane field.

The twin-engine plane, owned by the nationalized Cuban airlines Aerovias Q, had 53 persons aboard when it set out from Havana's Rancho Boyeros Airport Wednesday. It was heading for the Isle of Pines, off Cuba's south coast.

Five minutes after takeoff, the hijackers attempted to force their way into the pilot's cabin and take over the plane, presumably in hopes of heading for the United States.

When the crew and two guards resisted, gunfire broke out. Authorities reported the hijackers fired first and one of the first shots killed the plane's captain, Luis Alvarez Regato.

The other dead were one of the military guards, Silvino Sanchez Almaguer, and one of the hijackers, who was not identified.

Ex-President Hoover Observes 87th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP)—Herbert Hoover celebrates his 87th birthday today, firm in the conviction that Americans "are ready for any emergency on earth."

Hoover, who has lived longer than any other American president except John Adams (who died at the age of 90), scoffs at the idea that Americans are becoming soft.

The people, he said, are "as deeply patriotic as they've ever been."

At a news conference in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel Wednesday Hoover discussed a wide variety of topics ranging from the Berlin crisis to baseball. His face ruddy and unlined, he appeared at ease and took an optimistic view of everything he discussed.

Here is a Hoover sampler:

On chances for Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris to break Babe Ruth's home run record—"I am for anybody who can bat a home run — in baseball or anything else."

On the Berlin crisis—"President Kennedy's courageous statement as to Berlin should carry conviction to the Russians. He also emphasized a wish to negotiate, as long as the Russians are willing to negotiate over this problem, there is hope of solution."

On the welfare clampdown in Newburgh, N.Y.—Hoover likened this to "passive resistance" against free spending. He said such resistance "often is contagious, and I'd like to see this contagion spread."

JFK Hints He Does Not Share Scientists Skepticism

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy said today the United States is putting maximum effort into space developments in an effort to catch up with the Soviet Union which is "many months ahead of us."

Kennedy said in response to a reporter's question at his news conference that he is satisfied the Russians have put two men into orbit. The reporter had said there is skepticism on the part of some scientists.

The President indicated he does not share this skepticism.

Another reporter asked if Kennedy has given thought to establishing a project similar to the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb, in an effort to speed up space accomplishments.

Kennedy replied that a maximum effort already is going into space developments. He said he has asked Congress for all the money that could be spent without diminishing returns both financially and in terms of the use of personnel.

At this time, Kennedy continued, all that can be usefully employed is being put into this effort.

Kennedy said the United States cannot permit any nation hostile to this country to dominate space.

He said, however, he hopes some progress can be made within the United Nations toward guaranteeing the peaceful use of space. He said this will be a major issue in the U.N. session this fall.

A reporter noted that some members of Congress contend the Soviet Union is producing many more young scientists than the United States. He asked what plans there are for increasing the number of young American experts.

Kennedy replied that he hopes Congress will pass his general aid to education bill and the National Defense Education Act. He said both measures provide scholarships for young men and women who are talented in the scientific field.

At his 14th news conference, attended by a record 433 newsmen, Kennedy also said:

1. He is sending Arthur H. Dean back to Geneva on Aug. 24 for what may well be a final attempt to reach agreement with Russia on a nuclear test ban. Kennedy said a report from a panel of scientists had convinced him that with present techniques it would be impossible to determine positively whether Russia is secretly testing atomic weapons.

Hijacker Facing 3 Charges

FBI Chief Says Charges Have Been Filed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The federal government today filed a complaint charging airplane hijacker Albert Charles Cadon, 27, with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon and assault with intent to commit a felony.

Cadon was still in Havana, held by the Cuban authorities who removed him from the Pan American World Airways DC8. Cuba disclaimed any hand in the hijacking and permitted the plane to fly to Miami.

FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover said Cadon was charged with crime on the high seas, assault with a dangerous weapon, and assault with intent to commit a felony.

The charges would presumably be pressed in the event Cuba permits his return to the United States.

None of the 82 passengers and crew aboard the airliner was harmed, either by Cadon or the Cubans, in the hijacking Wednesday—latest in a series.

Most of the passengers spent the night in Miami and were to continue their interrupted journeys today. Some left Wednesday night.

Cadon was quoted by crew members as saying he was hijacking the plane to protest United States policy in Algeria, and that led to reports that he was a French Algerian.

The FBI said later, however, that Cadon was a French native who came to this country in 1957 and was committed briefly to New York's Bellevue Hospital last fall for mental observation. He was described by the FBI as an unbalanced itinerant artist and restaurant worker.

Plane Crash Fatal to 34 Schoolboys

STAVANGER, Norway (AP)—Thirty-four British schoolboys en route to a holiday in Norway died Wednesday night in a chartered British airliner that crashed and burned on a Norwegian mountainside during a fierce coastal storm.

The other Britons aboard the twin-engine Vickers Viking—Two schoolmasters, two pilots and a stewardess—died with them.

A helicopter pilot sighted the wreckage of the plane at dawn 15 miles from Stavanger, on a mountain in the rugged Ryfylke Fjord area of Norway's southwest coast.

The plane hit about 30 feet below the top of the 1,870-foot mountain and apparently exploded on impact. One wing, virtually intact, was hurled 300 yards. The broken fuselage hung from the peak. Most of the bodies were scattered nearby, many of them badly mutilated.

The schoolboys, 13 to 16 years old, were all pupils at Lanfranc School in Croydon, a commuter town 12 miles south of London. Their frantic parents besieged London Airport Wednesday night, desperate for word of their children's fate. Their telephone numbers were taken and they were sent home.

Miss Joyce Johnson Exchanges Vows With Mr. Dale Hessefort

Mrs. Dale Hessefort

Before an altar adorned with baskets of palms, gladioli, carnations and pompons tied with tinsel bells and candelabras entwined with greenery, Miss Joyce Johnson, Kansas City, and Mr. Dale Hessefort, Kansas City, exchanged wedding vows at two o'clock in the afternoon Sunday, July 30, at the First Baptist Church of Warsaw. The Rev. E. H. Micholowsky, Warsaw, performed the double ring ceremony.

The parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Homer Johnson, Warsaw, and Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Hessefort, Warsaw, are the parents of the groom.

Mrs. B. F. Hart, Warsaw, organist, played a selection of appropriate wedding music before the ceremony and accompanied Mrs. Hubert Wilhite, Warsaw, who sang "Always," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Lighting the candles were Miss Judy Johnson, Warsaw, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Darlene Hessefort, Kansas City. They wore ballerina length gowns of pastel turquoise of pure silk organza with matching waistline bows at back and matching head-dresses. Each wore a wrist corsage of pink pompons.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white gown of Chantilly lace over taffeta, fashioned with a scalloped scoop neckline enhanced with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. The long sleeves tapered to traditional points over the hands. The voluminous skirt featured tiers of Chantilly lace in the back extending into an aisle wide chapel train. Her silk illusion veil was attached to a pearl crown. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a gift of the groom. She carried a white Bible topped with a white orchid and pink rosebuds tied with white satin streamers.

Mrs. Janis Cobb, sister of the bride, Kansas City, served as matron of honor with Miss Sandra Kindie, Warsaw, and Miss Sara Dunaway, Kansas City, as bridesmaids. They wore gowns identical in color and styling as those of the candelights. Each carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations.

Serving as best man for the groom was Mr. Scotty Henderson, Warsaw, with Mr. Turner Shipman, Warsaw, and Mr. Don Moudy, Kansas City, as groomsmen. Ushers were Mr. Arnold Hessefort, brother of the groom, Kansas City, Mr. Kent Johnson, cousin of the bride, Warsaw, Mr. Sonny Johnson, brother of the bride, Warsaw, and Mr. Joey Hessefort, brother of the groom, Warsaw.

Miss Karen Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Johnson, served as flower girl, wearing a dress identical to the candelights. She carried a basket of pink rosebuds.

Master Mark Ives, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Ives, Sedalia, served as ringbearer.

The mother of the bride chose a pink lace dress with pink accessories and the groom's mother also wore a pink lace dress. Both wore pink and white carnation corsages.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the church with approximately 150 guests present.

The bride's table was covered with a white lace cloth and was centered with a five tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, surrounded with huckleberry and pompons.

Mrs. Bethel Gilcrest, Warsaw, Mrs. Leola Kindie, Warsaw, and Mrs. Lena Glenn, Warsaw, served at the bride's table with Miss Ruthie Martin, Warsaw, in charge of the guest book.

For their wedding trip to Colorado, the bride chose a beige suit with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Kansas City.

The bride graduated from the Warsaw High School and is employed at the Southwestern Bell Telephone Company in Kansas City.

The groom attended the Warsaw High School and is presently employed at Southwest Freight Lines, Kansas City.

Known Photographer Dies In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Photographer Murray Korman, well known for his pictures of musical comedy stars of the Twenties and Thirties, died Wednesday of a heart attack.

Korman, 59, worked for producers George White and Earl Carroll and once maintained studios in the Times Square area. However, he had not worked as an independent photographer for some time.

Helen Hall, Korman's friend for more than 30 years, said she knew of no relatives with whom he was in close touch.

Miss Erlene Tate, daughter of Mrs. Mary E. Tate, Columbia, became the bride of Mr. Harold D. Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. Cecil Hunter, Cole Camp, in a private ceremony in McMurtry Chapel of Missouri Methodist Church, Columbia, Friday, July 28, at four o'clock in the afternoon.

The Rev. Bert Powell read the vows in a double ring ceremony before an altar flanked by white gladioli arrangements in altar vases.

The bride wore a street length beige satin sheath with a matching hat. Her corsage was of tall-man roses centered with a brown orchid.

She was attended by her sister, Mrs. Eleanor Hines, Columbia, who wore a light blue silk chiffon over taffeta and a matching hat. Her corsage was of pink rosebuds.

Mr. Thomas Black, Naylor, acted as best man for the groom.

On their return from a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the couple will be at home in Columbia.

The bride is secretary to E. Stanley Ginn.

The groom is a graduate of the Missouri University School of Business and Public Administration and is employed by the Columbian Steel Tank Company.

Make Tentative Agreement In Labor Strike

EAST ST. LOUIS, Ill. (AP)—Tentative agreement has been reached in a week-old laborer's strike that tied up some $120,000,000 in building and highway projects in 12 Southern Illinois counties.

Federal Mediator George W. Squires said the agreement would grant laborers a 15 cent an hour pay raise, but the union rejected the offer.

The contract would expire Aug. 1, 1963, and would give the laborers a minimum of $3.60 an hour. Squires said work on some projects could be resumed today but noted it would take a few days before the total membership could vote on the contract.

Some 1,600 building trades and 1,500 highway laborers were on strike.

Jane Petley And Robert Corder United In Double Ring Ceremony

At eight o'clock in the evening, Saturday, July 29, the First Christian Church of Windsor was the scene of an impressive candle-light ceremony, when Miss Jane Kathleen Petley and Mr. Robert Corder were united in marriage. The Rev. David W. Hicks performed the double ring ceremony in a setting of four candelabras entwined with garden huckleberry. Pink and white tapers were also used in each of the stained glass windows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Crabtree, Windsor, and the groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Nathan G. Corder, Kansas City.

Mrs. J. O. Fetters, Windsor organist, played traditional wedding music and accompanied Mrs. Lloyd Merryfield, Windsor, who sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and "The Lord's Prayer."

Candlelighters were Miss Dena VanDyke, Windsor, and Miss Judy Cisel, Windsor. They wore identical dresses of lavender taffeta covered with lavender silk organza styled with fitted bodices, cap sleeves, full skirts and scoop necklines. Large flat lavender bows of organza covered taffeta were used as headpieces. Each wore a white carnation corsage.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor length white satin gown featuring a fitted bodice with large puffed sleeves accented by smooth flat satin bow on the shoulders and a modified boat neckline. Her billowing skirt fell from the princess waistline. Her chapel length veil was attached to a dainty crown of seed pearls and sequins. She carried pink and white rosebuds surrounded by stephanotis and fern on her white Rainbow Bible. The bouquet featured cascades of white satin ribbon tied in love knots. Her only jewelry was a single strand of pearls.

The maid of honor, Miss Glenda Vincent, Windsor, wore a street length pink chiffon over taffeta gown with a fitted bodice, scoop neckline and a very full skirt. The dress featured a pink Chantilly lace jacket worn over the dress. She carried a bouquet of pink carnations surrounded by lace and pink and white ribbons. Her headpiece was a small pink velvet flat bow from which fell a demure illusion veil. She also wore matching pink satin accessories and a single strand of pearls.

Mr. Dale Johnston, Kansas City, served as best man for the groom. Ushers were Mr. Phil Jenkins, Mr. Roger Corder, brother of the groom, and Mr. Gary Corder, brother of the groom.

The bride's mother chose a navy blue dress with a flared skirt and large dark buttons with navy and white accessories. The mother of the groom wore a pale blue sheath dress with matching jacket and white accessories. Both wore white carnation corsages.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement with approximately 150 guests attending.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth and centered with a four tier wedding cake topped with three pale pink wedding bells. On either side of the cake was a white taper in a pink satin ribbon setting. Servers were, Mrs. Wilbur Allen, Windsor, and Mrs. Mary Van Dyke, Windsor. Miss Dixie Vicent, Windsor, had charge of the guest book.

After the reception the couple left for a honeymoon on the Lake of the Ozarks. For traveling, the bride chose a white eyelet sheath with matching white long-sleeved jacket and white accessories. The couple will make their home in Kansas City.

The bride is a graduate of the Windsor High School with the class of 1961.

The groom graduated from Central High School in Kansas City and is presently enrolled as a junior at Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, where he is majoring in business commerce. At present, he is employed at the Railway Express in Kansas City.

Ham Holding Spotlight At Supermarkets

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Ham, a traditional hot weather favorite, ranks high this week among weekend specials offered by supermarkets and neighborhood stores.

Other pork cuts on the bargain list include chops, loins and smoked butts.

Beef specials include chuck, rib and pot roasts, standing ribs and sirloin steak.

Lamb legs are featured in widely scattered areas.

In the fowl department, the specials are frying chickens, barbecued chickens, chicken parts, ducks and turkeys.

Scallops are the most widely advertised fish items.

While lettuce currently is among the best vegetable buys, its price is expected to go up, making salads more costly. California farmers are limiting output in an effort to boost prices.

Other best buys are beets, cabbage, cauliflower, corn, eggplant, nearby lettuce, peppers, tomatoes, Eastern potatoes and yellow squash.

Considered good buys are beans, carrots, cucumbers, escarole, endive, green and dry onions, parsley, okra, California potatoes and green squash.

Limes, cherries, cantaloupe, lemons and nectarines are best buys among fruits.

Good fruit buys are apples, avocados, blueberries, mangoes, peaches, grapes and oranges.

Wedding Announcement

Miss Pauline Roberts and Mr. Walker DeLapp were united in marriage Friday, Aug. 4, at half past seven o'clock in the evening at the home of Rev. B. B. Bess, who performed the impressive ceremony.

The couple will reside at 1216 South Sneed.

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: My husband is the top man in his company and our friends envy our family life. To outsiders it appears ideal. My husband doesn't think we have a problem, but I don't agree.

Our eight-year-old boy is bossed by his two sisters and he is unable to hold his own with other boys. I feel he needs time and attention from his father. His father says he is doing his share by being home every night. Last week I kept track and he didn't have one friendly conversation with the boy. He answered a few questions curtly and then said "Leave me alone so I can have some peace and quiet."

I fear one day there will be regrets and it will be too late. How about this? — D. M.

Dear D. M.: A father who does not speak to his children can be replaced by a clothing store dummy.

Every male child needs the companionship of a grown man so he can learn first hand how men do things. A boy whose early life is spent primarily with sisters and mother can grow up to be girlish.

Your husband should begin at once to establish some communications with his son. It's later than he thinks.

Dear Ann Landers: My 18-year-old niece became engaged to a baboon-type who is also 18 and still riding around on a bicycle. Both kids graduated from high school in June and are working at a super-market.

We invited them over to dinner last evening and they talked baby talk and couldn't keep their hands off each other.

My teenage children commented when the couple left that they behaved like donkeys. I decided to phone my sister and tell her to straighten these kids out. She was indignant and said I was narrow-minded. According to her, young love is beautiful and there is nothing wrong with expressing it openly. Comment please.—O. B.

Dear O. B.: Young love is beautiful, but what you describe is not love, nor even a reasonable facsimile. Kids lollygagging and pawing each other is plain revolting. Unsolicited advice is usual.

Senate Puts Death Rap On Hijacking

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today wrote a provision for the death penalty into a bill making airplane hijacking a federal crime.

An amendment adopted by voice vote would fix a minimum penalty of 20 years in prison and authorize life imprisonment or death.

Sen. Ralph Yarborough, D-Tex., author of the amendment, said he felt a mandatory death penalty as some senators had proposed, would be too drastic.

The bill, which also would provide heavy penalties for other crimes in the skies, was brought up after the hijacking of a Pan American World Airways jetliner over Mexico Wednesday. The plane was forced to travel to Cuba, but Prime Minister Fidel Castro's government promptly ordered release of the plane, its passengers and crew.

President Kennedy announced at his news conference today that border patrolmen will be assigned to a number of planes to guard against new hijacking incidents.

Despite return of the plane, senators demanded stern action against the Castro regime following a series of incidents.

Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel, R-Calif., the assistant minority leader, said the time has come for an economic blockade of Cuba.

Sen. Frank Carlson, R-Kan., said that "certainly as a great, powerful nation, we do not need to tolerate the insults and provocations that are presented to us by Fidel Castro."

Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., Senate majority leader, appealed to his colleagues to pass the hijacking bill and leave the question of the general state of relations with Cuba in the hands of the President "where it belongs at this time."

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said that although the plane was returned, there still remains the question of whether Cuba will turn over the hijacker to the United States for prosecution.

A Showdown Conference Called For

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy called today for a showdown conference with Russia on a treaty to ban nuclear weapons tests. A new note from Moscow indicated that this last-ditch bid for agreement is doomed in advance.

Kennedy announced at a news conference that he is sending Arthur Dean back to Geneva Aug. 24 for a "decisive meeting" of the U.S.-British-Soviet nuclear test ban negotiators.

"We'll be able to tell almost immediately," he said whether Russia has made any change in its "Troika" proposal for a three-man board of directors to run any inspection system.

U.S. officials have denounced the 3-man board—one Soviet, one neutral, one Westerner—as giving Russia virtual self-inspection, since each of the three would have a veto and the Soviets could bar inspectors from checking on suspicions of sneak tests within her territory.

But a new note from Moscow reasserted Russia's position on precisely this issue.

State Department press officer Lincoln White said the note contrasts rather strikingly with the statement the President made at his news conference—it repeats the Soviet position on Troika.

The note was dispatched by the Soviet government Wednesday and White made clear that it indicated no change whatever in the Russian position on nuclear weapons test negotiations.

Kennedy knew of this note before making his news conference statement today. It appeared that though he expressed hope Dean's 11th hour mission would be successful, he realized in advance that every indication from Moscow was that it would fail.

MoPac Railway Buys Stock In Another Line

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The Missouri Pacific Railroad today purchased 14 per cent of the capital stock and other securities of the Chicago & Eastern Illinois Railroad for an estimated $15 million.

The acquisition represents 14 per cent of C&EI voting control. The stock and securities were acquired from the estate of J.R. Hammack, Kansas City, Mo., investor, who was director of C&EI.

In a statement MoPac said it bought the securities "to protect its interests after learning they were being offered to three other railroads."

Rescindence Rejected In Well Dispute

JEFFERSON CITY (AP)—The Public Service Commission today refused to rescind its Aug. 3 decision that the Artesian well owned by H. X. McClure of Pineville is being operated as a sub-urban public utility.

The commission did give McClure an additional eight days in which he and his attorneys will have an opportunity to find out where they stand.

That means the PSC's decision—finding the operation a utility and subject to PSC regulation—Aug. 19, instead of Aug. 11 as first set out in the commission's order.

In the order McClure was told to make any necessary repairs to the Artesian well and its pipelines and report quickly any progress in bringing the operation up to standards for purity and cleanliness.

The commission's order was based on a 24-year-old ruling the operation was a utility. That came back in 1937 when the former owner, A. C. Price, voluntarily asked for utility status.

Since then, PSC records showed there has been no effort made to drop the utility status so the well operation is still that of a utility.

Recently, McClure said he was cutting off the water to nearby domestic water users because the level of his artificial fishing lake, fed by the well, appeared to be dropping.

He said he wasn't operating a utility, didn't want to and wasn't going to.

But 24 water users said they had come to rely on the well for water supplies.

It appeared certain more litigation will ensue before the water fight is settled. McClure could appeal the PSC decision to the Supreme Court of Missouri.

Johnson Would Take Over In Illness of JFK

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy disclosed today he had made an agreement with Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson for operation of the presidency if he should become incapacitated.

Kennedy told his news conference that he had made the same kind of agreement with Johnson that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower set up with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

Eisenhower and Nixon agreed that if the Eisenhower became unable to continue his duties, Nixon should take over as acting president. The President then would decide when he was able to resume the duties of office.

Kennedy did not give any details of his agreement with Johnson. He said, however, that White House press secretary Pierre Salinger would make the agreement public later.

Investor, who was director of C&EI. In a statement MoPac said it bought the securities "to protect its interests after learning they were being offered to three other railroads."

Symington Dedicates War Park

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Sen. Stuart Symington formally dedicated Wilson's Creek Battlefield National Park today on the centennial of the second major battle of the Civil War.

He told a crowd assembled on Bloody Hill, about 11 miles southwest of here, that the park will memorialize "a high point of valor in our history—one to remind us in present times that by resolute effort, we can uphold freedom and achieve a just and lasting peace."

The Missouri senator was the principal speaker at the combined centennial and dedication ceremonies.

Wilson's Creek was a sharp and bloody engagement in which 10,000 Confederates and 5,400 Union troops took part. The Union forces made victory so costly for the Confederates that the South's drive to overrun Missouri was brought to a halt.

"It has been the custom for this phase of the war to be slighted by historians," Symington said in his prepared speech. "But the creation of this park has already inspired much new study of the meaning of Wilson's Creek—and as a result more names of more battles in this state and this area will be dwelt on in the future by those who write of this long and tragic period."

Turning to current affairs, Senator Symington said Americans live today with certain knowledge of two facts, "that any future major conflict fought with nuclear weapons would ravage every country involved," and that "our hope for a just and lasting peace depends on the strength of America and its free world allies."

"We must be strong in our capacity to defend our nation—in ability to respond to conventional attack as well as nuclear attack," he said.

Session Over Between Rusk And Adenauer

CADENABBIA, Italy (AP)—U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk conferred for two hours today with West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, winding up a week-long Berlin crisis mission in Europe.

Neither commented after the meeting, at Adenauer's vacation retreat in this north Italian resort area. A spokesman said that West German Foreign Minister Heinrich von Brentano and the U.S. ambassador to Bonn, Walter C. Dowling, were present at the talks.

It was Rusk's final conference on his current mission to Western Europe, which has brought him into contact with representatives of all the United States' North Atlantic Treaty Organization allies.

Rusk left later in the day for Washington, with a brief stopover in Paris to pick up Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Over the weekend he discussed with the foreign ministers of France, Britain and West Germany measures to take to counter the Soviet threat to West Berlin.

Tuesday he won NATO council endorsement in Paris for a proposal to strengthen NATO forces with up to 80,000 men.

In Rome, Rusk conferred with Italian Premier Amintore Fanfani and Foreign Minister Antonio Segni. They told him Italy hopes for a peaceful solution to the Berlin crisis but will always remain faithful to NATO.

Rusk briefed the Italians on the talks in Paris. There had been reports that some Rome officials were disappointed they were not invited.

A report from Paris said the West had decided to take the initiative to convene an East-West conference on Berlin but not until after the Sept. 17 West German election.

Passengers Say Hijacker Saluted, Cheered In Cuba

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A pistol-waving hijacker, described as wild-haired and insane-looking, drew salutes and cheers from Cuban soldiers who arrested him, a passenger related.

Glenn White, a Detroit auto executive, said "my first reaction was this guy was sick—awfully sick."

"This fellow with the wild hair ran down the aisle."

"I saw him stick an awfully big gun up against the steward's heart" soon after the Mexico City takeoff of the Pan American jetliner, White said.

"He jumped through into the cockpit and slammed the door. That was the last we saw of him until Cuban police escorted him from the jet at Havana."

"I and some others tried to figure out how to grab the plane ourselves. But we decided against it."

"Pan American opened the bar, and everybody had a drink and just relaxed."

"Right after we landed, this fellow was taken out of the plane and those soldiers on the ground saluted and cheered him as he walked toward the terminal."

Cuban authorities identified him as Alberto Charles Cadon, 25, a French Algerian, but the FBI said he was Paris-born and came to the United States in 1957.

Hector Vioni, 53, Richmond, Ind., attorney, said "A blue streak—the hijacker—shot down the aisle past me, backed the steward against a seat and ... kicked open the cockpit door."

"I don't think you would say there was any panic, although I think most of us were plenty nervous."

Plane Capt. Carl Ballard of Houston, Tex., said Cadon threatened us several times. We were in great danger of being shot—not intentionally, but by accident. He said he'd kill us, and he said that when the problem came up we were not to land for fuel. He told us we'd crash first."

Colombian Foreign Minister Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala, one of the passengers, gave a terse account of the hijacking exploit.

"Five minutes after leaving Mexico City I saw a passenger rushing down the aisle from the officers were returning him to Caruthersville.

Police said Allen told them he fired a shot that killed the owner of a chain of liquor stores and taverns. They said Allen's statement came after a white man, serving a term in the Missouri prison, issued a statement implicating the Negro.

Senatorial Demands Are Sidetracked

WASHINGTON (AP) — Cuba's prompt release of a hijacked U.S. airliner appeared today to have sidetracked demands by some senators for an American ultimatum to Fidel Castro.

But Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said there still remains the question of whether Cuba will turn over to the United States for prosecution the hijacker of a Pan American Airlines jet forced to land in Havana Wednesday.

A spokesman for the airline identified the hijacker as a French Algerian and said there was no suggestion of any Cuban plot behind the seizure.

"I am glad they released the jet and that the passengers and crew are safe," Dirksen said. "But that doesn't end the matter. We have an extradition treaty Cuba and if they don't turn the hijackers over to us, it will certainly indicate that there is collusion involved."

Dirksen said he thinks there is sufficient law on the books to punish hijackers, even without enactment of a bill the Senate considers today to provide up to life imprisonment for air piracy.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the release of the plane and passengers "puts a different outlook" on a whole crop of senatorial demands for President Kennedy to tell Castro to release seized U.S. planes or expect American forces to go in and get them.

Mansfield said it will be up to Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., to decide whether he wants to push for an amendment he offered to the penalties bill Wednesday. The amendment would ask President Kennedy to give Castro 48 hours to return the Pan American jet and an Eastern Air Lines plane held in Havana since July 24 before taking "such action as is necessary" to get them back.

The Senate put off action on the hijacking penalties bill Wednesday after Sen. Thurston B. Morton, R-Ky., complained that the atmosphere was too emotional for consideration of such critical matters.

Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y., Wayne Morse, D-Ore., and John A. Carroll, D-Colo., joined in arguing that the senators needed a cooling off period before they acted. With an assist from Dirksen, Mansfield got agreement for a delay until today.

Chairman Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., of the Senate Commerce Committee was ready with an amendment to provide the death penalty for the armed hijacking of a plane. But Sen. George D. Aiken, R-Vt., questioned the wisdom of this.

He said if a hijacker faced a mandatory death penalty he might destroy a plane and all the passengers aboard if he believed himself in danger of being caught.

The pending measure would fix the jurisdiction of federal and local governments in dealing with

Big Tax Claim Is Settled For Nearly $50,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — A tax claim against James J. Carroll, St. Louis, has been settled by the Internal Revenue Service for $49,999.92.

The service alleged in May 1958 that Carroll owed $407,663.46 in taxes and penalties for the year 1948 through 1950.

Tax court records showed that stipulated decisions, entered Aug. 9 and signed by Judge Morton P. Fisher, covered the years 1946 and 1947 for Carroll alone and 1948 through 1950 for him and his wife, Edith.

Much of the reduction from the services original claim came from the government's agreement that alleged tax deficiencies for 1942 through 1945 could not be collected because of the statute of limitations.

The IRS alleged during the years 1946 through 1950 Carroll was engaged in gambling, book-making and other illegal activities but during that period Carroll failed to keep adequate books and records on his income-producing activities.

a whole array of crimes that might be committed aboard airplanes. It would permit air carriers to refuse seats to persons whose "transportation would or might be inimical to safety of flight."

The measure stipulates that the hijacking of "an aircraft in flight in air commerce" shall be equivalent legally to piracy on the high seas, an offense that carries a mandatory penalty of life imprisonment.

Pessimistic Outlook on Two JFK Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn, D-Tex., reported pessimistically today on the outlook for two of President Kennedy's high priority legislative proposals—school aid and interim tax reform.

He said work is still being done on bills for help to states in school construction "but the outlook is gloomy." School aid legislation is stymied in the House Rules Committee.

The speaker said he hopes the Ways and Means Committee will be able to bring out a bill "closing some tax loopholes" before the session ends, but it is an uphill task.

"Somebody objects to everything," he said.

Six Juveniles Try to Escape; Two Successful

DETROIT (AP) — Six boys, aged 15 and 16, overpowered a guard at the Wayne County Juvenile Home Wednesday and tried to escape.

Two made it. Three got trapped in a revolving door and were captured.

The sixth, Thomas Grier, 16, bolted through the door into the street and was killed by a truck. Police said Grier had been held since July 1 for robbing a newsboy of $2.

Grier had been in the juvenile home eight previous times since March, 1958. He and the other five were being held in a sixth floor "trouble ward."

O'Connor Sells Stock Causing Proxmire Blast

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Lawrence J. O'Connor, confirmed as a member of the Federal Power Commission, said Wednesday he has started disposing of stock Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., said may represent a conflict of interest.

"Just as I said in the committee hearing, I am disposing of such stock and before Monday I will have disposed of it all," O'Connor said.

"In fact that is the reason I am in Houston."

Proxmire held the Senate floor for over 32 hours in his fight against O'Connor's confirmation. He said it would "really be tragic" to appoint O'Connor to the power commission because of conflict of interest.

O'Connor did not say if he was selling the stock or giving it to his elderly mother, as Sen. Mike Monroney, D-Okla., said he was told O'Connor would do.

New Box Car Permits Big Paper Loads

KANSAS CITY (AP)—A box car delivered 74 rolls of newspaper—double the ordinary load—to the Kansas City Star last night.

It was a regular size railroad box car but it has a new hydraulic drawbar system which permits the heavier load. Apparently it was the first time one of the new cars has been used to deliver newspaper.

The drawbar at each end of a railroad car transmits pushing or pulling force from the coupler to the chassis of the car. The hydraulic draw bar cushions the bumps of starting, stopping and switching and the vibrations of fast travel — something like a shock absorber on an automobile.

A cushioned ride minimizes the main hazard in the shipment of newspaper. If the big rolls are gouged, dented or torn and snagged at the edges, the paper won't run through high speed presses without breaking.

The Star's newspaper comes in rolls 5 feet 2 inches wide and each weighs about 1,880 pounds. The ordinary carload is 35, stacked vertically. The new car carried them two-deep. The shipment came from the Coosa River Newsprint Co. of Coosa Pines, Ala.

The hydraulic drawbar car is one of 220 the Southern Railway bought from Pullman-Standard Co. for about $21,000—around $6,000 above the cost of an ordinary box car.

The Kansas City Southern Railway has about 150 on order.

A dozen railroad specialists in cargo handling, people from paper mills and officers of the Star were on hand to look over the shipment on its arrival and see how it took the ride.

Charges Bar Not Fighting Delinquency

ST. LOUIS (AP)—A Missouri judge, leader in the fight against juvenile delinquency, today took the American Bar to task for not doing its full part in tackling this spreading problem.

Circuit Judge Henry A. Riederer of Jackson County, president of the National Council of Juvenile Court Judges, spoke to a family law panel at the 84th annual convention of the American Bar Association.

Juvenile delinquency is increasing at such a pace, he said, that it is commonly predicted "the number of alleged juvenile delinquents brought before the courts soon will be one million children per year."

This requires the cooperation of all hands, he said, but:

"Unfortunately, the bar, which is in the position of being able to contribute more than most towards a reasonable solution of the problem, has done less than many other professional groups."

"The individual lawyer," he said, "has generally shied away from representing a juvenile offender because of the absence of substantial remuneration and because of his abysmal ignorance of the proper role he should play in a juvenile proceeding."

The laws establishing Juvenile Courts in the various states, Judge Riederer said, generally provide that they are not criminal courts, "but civil or equitable in nature. The aim is to rehabilitate the youthful offender and the emphasis is not so much on punishment and retribution."

As state laws now stand, he said, the accused generally do not have a right to be advised that they are entitled to counsel but his forecast was that counsel will be called for in any increasing number of cases.

Among other suggestions, the judge said it might be well to have an internship program whereby bright law graduates would work under qualified judges and get to know the problems of the Juvenile Courts.

At any rate, he said, the bar should lead in indoctrinating youth in the necessity for law and order.

FBI Inspector H. Lynn Edwards of Washington told the panel that different youthful crimes call for different treatment.

"Certainly, for example," he said, "no one would seriously advocate a prison sentence for a delinquent whose offense is stealing apples from an orchard, nor would it be proper to treat a 17-year-old rapist with the leniency shown the apple thief."

Brazil's Vesp In Moscow On Visit

MOSCOW (AP)—Brazilian Vice President Joao Goulart arrived in Moscow Wednesday for a three-day visit before continuing on to Red China, Tass reported.

Goulart was met at the airport by Soviet Vice President I. S. Kozlov and other officials of the Soviet ministries of foreign affairs and foreign trade.

Donna Reed Series Back Next Season

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP TV-Radio Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Donna Reed is something of a Hollywood Mollie Pitcher—the lone feminine star whose series will continue. "The Donna Reed Show" is beginning its fourth season in television.

"The Loretta Young Show," "The June Allyson Show" and the Barbara Stanwyck Show" all went into reruns at the end of last season. Miss Young's after many successful seasons and Miss Stanwyck's after only one.

One reason Miss Reed offers for her TV survival is the nature of the series—family comedy.

"I think we've come through mostly by accident," blonde and youthful-looking Donna explained during a short break between shots at the studio. "But also I think we're still here because we have a series in which relationships have been established between the players. The other women had anthology series with each program different. And I think that series like ours are what people stay home to watch. And I think that our greatest asset is that all of us—Carl Betz, Shelley Fabares and Paul Petersen and I—have been playing together as a family over the years."

Donna feels that the long-playing family shows are shrugged off by television writers and critics. "You can't get into a show like this by watching it once or occasionally," she said. "We work hard and make a lot of episodes, and some are bound to be better than others. But I'd like the critics to watch our show five weeks in a row. That way they would really find out what we're doing. Then I'd like them to go to a movie—a clean family-type movie—and sit down and tell us which came off better. After all, it's impossible to find anything really new in family comedy—it's the way it handled that makes the difference."

About this time last year, Richard Boone was being very firm about winding up "Have Gun, Will Travel" with the 1961-62 batch of shows because he had other acting plans. Now, with a fancy contract involving almost one and one-half million dollars, Boone is set for at least one additional year, maybe two, of Paladin.

NBC apparently is determined to televise Marilyn Monroe one way or another. Her health caused the network to drop a planned tele-version of "Rain" as a special next season. But now NBC has persuaded her to narrate a portion of a "Show of the Week" salute to the USO in October.

Nominate Negro For Lifetime Seat On Bench

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy has announced nomination of the first Negro ever to a lifetime appointment as a U.S. district judge.

Nomination of Superior Court Judge James Benton Parsons, 49, of Chicago, to be U.S. district judge for northern Illinois was announced Wednesday by the White House.

A formal nomination will go to the Senate later.

In Chicago, Parsons said he felt his selection was a "breakthrough for the Negro in the profession that serves to inspire the entire race."

Parsons, a native of Kansas City, holds a doctor's degree from Chicago Law School.

From 1935 to 1940, he was a member of the faculty of Lincoln University at Jefferson City, Mo.

Writer for TV Dies Wednesday Of Heart Spell

NEWTOWN, Pa. (AP)—J. Barry Lake, 51, a writer of television plays and detective novels, died of a heart attack Wednesday night at his home here.

Lake wrote for such programs as "Young Dr. Malone," "The Road of Life," and "The Brighter Day," on CBS television.

"One For The Money," and "Two For The Show" were among the six novels he authored.

Lake was born in Hannibal, Mo. Surviving are his widow, Marjory; a son, Robin, and a daughter, Betty.

Piper Laurie Makes Return

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Six years ago, Piper Laurie left the life of a movie star "because it brought me no joy."

She was back in Hollywood briefly, again the star of a movie. While she still seems not to be joyful, the intervening years appeared to have brought her more happiness than she ever knew as one of Universal's top personalities.

Earlier this year, Piper starred with Paul Newman and Jackie Gleason in "The Hustler," filmed in New York. The picture might well establish her as a dramatic actress instead of a film personality with a tricked-up name.

The Piper Laurie story offers proof that success isn't everything. She had it. Her name in lights. Her photo in the magazines. Her face on the screen opposite Tony Curtis, Tyrone Power, Dana Andrews, Rock Hudson.

"I was miserable," she recalled.

"I did about 15 pictures at Universal in six years. Not one of them could I be proud of. Finally I reached a crisis. When I realized I was starting a picture which I knew would be bad, it was time to take a stand."

Her stand was that she wanted out of her contract. The studio finally agreed, after exacting a deal for her to do three more films at a small figure. One option was exercised.

Since leaving Universal, Piper has done only one film, "Until They Sail." She has also distinguished herself in a number of TV performances, especially as an alcoholic in "Day of Wine and Roses." Her return in "The Hustler" could well be the start of a new, dramatic film career for her, and 20th-Fox has options on her services.

Piper admitted that breaking away from the life of a film star was sometimes difficult.

"I'm lazy," she admitted. "I like to be waited on. That was something I got all the time at Universal. Everything was done for me. It was an easy life, but it had its drawbacks."

Another thing that rankled her was her screen name. She was born Rosetta Jacobs. When she became a starlet at 17, someone at the studio handed her a slip of paper with the name Piper Laurie on it. This was in the same era when Roy Fitzgerald became Rock Hudson and Bernie Schwartz turned into Tony Curtis. She still can't get used to being Piper Laurie.

Guevara Steals Spotlight From Latin Nations Group

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP)—A hemisphere conference conceived to turn back the Communist drive in Latin America surrendered the spotlight Wednesday night to a leading spokesman for communism in the Western hemisphere—and he made the most of it.

While supporters of President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress were attending a reception in a nearby hotel, Cuban economic boss Ernesto Guevara held court for the Latin-American press.

Crewmembers Given Token By Hijacker

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—The swaggering hijacker of a Pan American World Airways jetliner gave each member of the crew a pistol cartridge as a grim souvenir of his exploit, a passenger said Wednesday night.

Hector Vioni, 53, Richmond, Ind., lawyer, said that when the plane landed in Havana after a flight at pistol point from Mexico "that idiot took the clips out of his gun."

"He gave one bullet to each member of the crew and told them, 'I planned to give it to you one way or the other. This is a souvenir from me,'" Vioni said.

"The first thing I knew," Vioni said of the aerial kidnapping, "was when a blue streak, the hijacker, shot down the aisle past me. He pulled a pistol, backed the steward against a seat and kept jabbing the pistol in the steward's left ribs," Vioni said in an interview after arriving from Havana.

"He kicked open the door and burst into the cockpit. I don't think you would say there was any panic. Although I think most of us were plenty nervous."

"It seemed like a long trip to Havana."

Vioni expressed bitter criticism of the long layover in Havana.

"There was no reason for (Cuban Prime Minister Fidel) Castro and his dirty-minded pirates to detain us those eight and a half hours in Havana. The plane had fuel. The crew was ready and able to fly."

"But they put us all into a room—and air-conditioned room—and then once in a while they would bring us some bum sandwiches," Vioni said.

Ernesto Ravinet of San Francisco, a business associate of Vioni, said Rafael E. Vazquez, general manager of Cosmopolitan Tours of Mexico, Mexico City "stood up to one of the top Castro bigwigs at the airport and shouted at him."

"He told him, 'One of your pirates brought us here to hand us over to another pirate. You have no right to detain us. I am a free citizen of Mexico and I demand that we and this plane be released,'" Ravinet quoted Vazquez as saying.

Vioni, Ravinet and Ravinet's wife, Unabelle, were traveling to Panama on business.

Vioni said, "I want to tell you how lucky we were. We got to see the great Fidel. Castro came down to the airport just before we were to leave and talked to the Colombian foreign minister (Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala)."

"Castro started talking to Capt. (Carl) Ballard and I suppose he was ready for one of those long speeches of his. We couldn't hear what he was saying, but he was wagging his head at the sound," Vioni said.

"Ballard cut him short."

2 Small Girls Lost In River Near Lexington

LEXINGTON, Mo. (AP) — Two little girls are missing in the swift and tricky currents of the Missouri River. They tumbled down a steep bank and were swept away Wednesday night.

David Spencer, 10, told investigators he and two playmates were walking along the river, throwing rocks into the water. Freda Means, 8, pitched a stone, lost her balance, and skidded down the 10-foot embankment into the river. Gloria Jean Terrel, 9, tried to go after her and fell in, too.

David said he scrambled down into the water after the two girls but it was too deep and he pulled himself back onto the bank.

The girls fell in about a mile west of the Lexington bridge. The river makes a slight bend there and a strong current scours the shore line.

Sheriff Dewey Parrott organized a search and dragging operation, concentrating at first on an area of still water at a dock and barge loading ramp about 100 yards downstream.

He said the river apparently carried the girls downstream or to the opposite shore.

Freda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Means. Gloria Jean has been living with her grandfather, Harold Watts. The families all live in Lexington.

The representative of the little Caribbean island of six million people held the spotlight alone during this period of the Inter-American Economic Conference—whose chief aim is to offset Cuba's revolutionary influence on Latin America's 200 million people.

The reception in the swanky San Rafael Hotel, given by U.S. Secretary of the Treasury, C. Douglas Dillon, would have been impressive in any European capital. Except for Guevara, anybody who was anybody at the conference was there.

But while the diplomats were socializing the bearded Cuban in his habitual army fatigues was holding forth for the newsmen, who obviously viewed Guevara as the only real source of news at the moment at this conference.

Guevara had nothing new to say. Most of it was a repetition of Cuban and Communist propaganda. He insisted that the United States is blind to the realities of Latin America, and that because of this the socialist—meaning Communist—revolution on the continents just around the corner. He said revolution would come in Latin America as a protest against the past and present but that it would become "socialist" immediately as new governments are installed.

This is standard Marxist Leninist "national liberation" propaganda, and the United States is doing little on the popular level to combat it.

There has been a considerable amount of enthusiasm generated here for the U.S. program, which envisions the investment of more than $20 billion by the United States and other foreign sources in Latin America in the next 10 years if these countries take steps necessary to develop their potentials and join the war against poverty, misery and illiteracy.

But the Alliance for Progress has yet to step down to the lower levels of the Latin-American population. Guevara and the Communists have not lost sight of those levels and their potential for revolution.

In essence, that seems to be the meaning and reason for the Cuban's appearance at a conference where otherwise he obviously does not belong. He is a revolutionary figure in the midst of representatives of a class searching for new ways to save itself from destruction in the fire of revolution.

The Cubans, for all their irrationality, are appealing to basic instincts and yearnings. The representatives of the United States still are carrying on their effort at the polite upper crust of society.

Much hope appears to have been generated in Punta Del Este that a program has been conceived which has a real chance of stemming the pressures from the Communist-Castroite combination of the left.

But the push of Castroism is strong and heady. And nobody is more aware of this than the busy Cubans at this conference designed primarily to reduce their revolutionary impact.

Big Influence On Astronomy Is Predicted

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — A Harvard astronomer says space observatories would influence astronomy as much as did the invention of the telescope.

Dr. Leo Goldberg, addressing a news conference Wednesday at the International Symposium on Space Age Astronomy, explained: "The availability of space vehicles makes it possible to do a whole variety of experiments that couldn't be done before."

But manned observatories in orbit, he said, would be less valuable in some instances than unmanned satellites.

"One way of controlling the altitude of satellites is momentum wheels," he explained. "Because man has mass and moves and breathes, he would upset the system."

The symposium, sponsored by the Douglas Aircraft Co., is being held at the California Institute of Technology.

Arraign Three Men In Blue Jeans Case

COFFEYVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Three men were arraigned here Wednesday on charges of removing 267 dozen pairs of blue jeans from a Caney, Kan., firm without corporation consent.

Those arraigned were Eddie J. Adkins, 35, Joplin, Mo., president of Michael J. Inc., a clothing manufacturing firm; Gary Wayne Shelton, 23, Joplin, manager of a plant at Galena, Kas., and Roy Eldon Hopkins, 22, Glenna.

Bond for each was set at $5,000, which none was able to supply. Listed in the formal complaint as owner of the jeans was the Eli Walker Co. of St. Louis.

Industry and Dune Lovers In Battle for Lake Strip

CHICAGO (AP)—Projections of the needs of mid-America's explosive population growth and industrial expansion meet in a head-on collision along a short stretch of Lake Michigan shoreline near Chicago.

The question is who has the best right to the disputed land—thousands of metropolitan area workers seeking recreation or scenic beauty or new industrial plants?

It is this area — the Indiana Dunes — that conservationists, scientists and dune lovers are seeking to turn into a national preserve.

Opposing groups want to have a deep-water harbor built in the dunes. They envision the development of new steel plants in the area to provide thousands of new jobs. They claim the dunes area can accommodate both a harbor and a national park.

A leader of the save the dunes movement is Sen. Paul H. Douglas, D-Ill. His efforts in Congress to make the dunes area a national preserve touched off a controversy that divided communities in the area and placed high ranking Democrats in opposing positions.

Douglas wants to preserve what he calls "a natural playground and wildlife area of great beauty."

He contends the area is a natural recreation grounds for the 6½ million people in the Chicago metropolitan area "and also for the generations yet unborn."

The Illinois senator toured the dunes area recently with a delegation from Washington including Secretary of Interior Stewart L. Udall.

Udall concluded that much of the land is worth preserving in its natural state and added, "I'll do all I can to work out whatever problems stand in the way."

The dunes once stretched for 25 miles along Lake Michigan's southern and southeastern shore, but most of the area already has been industrialized or developed residentially.

Only about four miles of undeveloped dunes remain, and the Bethlehem Steel Co. has purchased most of this in recent years. Midwest Steel, a subsidiary of National Steel, began operating a fabricating mill this year on land it owns on the western side

Hijackers Must Evade Careful Airport Check

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Ticket agents, other airline employees and an augmented police detail are scrutinizing passengers with extra zeal at Municipal airport in an effort to spot potential hijackers.

Trans World Airlines said it put new security measures into effect July 28. These include locking the door to the pilots' quarters, surveillance of passengers and briefing of flight crews on how to cope with hijackers.

Continental Airlines said it has taken steps but will not disclose them lest this play into the hands of hijackers.

There have been no incidents at the airport, but authorities indicated any persons suspected will be asked to submit to examination of clothing and baggage. Refusal will mean cancellation of passage.

Summation Is Ended By Prosecution

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israeli Atty. Gen. Gideon Hausner ended the summation of his case against Adolf Eichmann today with a plea for a "just and truthful" verdict that the former Gestapo officer "acted willingly, lustfully and zestfully to the very end."

"Adolf Eichmann acted for the perpetration of these crimes with which he is charged in the most extreme and merciless way conceivable," Hausner told the three judges who decide whether Eichmann bears major responsibility for the Nazi slaughter of six million Jews.

Hausner did not demand the death penalty—the maximum provided in Israeli law under which Eichmann is charged—because the Anglo-Saxon procedure operative in Israel's courts does not permit such a demand until the defendant is convicted.

Monday, Eichmann's West German defense counsel, Robert Servatius, will sum up his defense. He is expected to take only one day.

The court will then recess for the balance of the summer. It is expected to return its verdict in October.

Earlier today, Hausner had continued his review of the evidence against Eichmann and linked it with specific counts in the massive indictment.

"We have the minutes of the Wannsee Conference which developed the plan for the physical destruction of the Jews," Hausner declared.

"We see from these minutes that Eichmann was present at the meeting and that Reinhard Heydrich's authority for the final solution of the Jewish problem was accepted there."

The prosecutor paused for a moment, pointed to Eichmann seated in the glass-enclosed prisoner's dock, and said: "We also see from the evidence that Heydrich chose Eichmann as his No. 1 representative in carrying out the Wannsee decisions."

Eichmann sat with his hands folded in his lap, rarely taking his eyes from the prosecutor. Occasionally he wrote on a large pad before him.

Soviets Accuse US of Wanting Airy Test Ban

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union today accused the United States of wanting a nuclear test ban so full of loopholes that testing could actually continue.

The Soviets also charged the Western powers want a test ban agreement which would permit them to collect intelligence data in the Soviet Union, and a control apparatus which would be a "pilot tool" in the hands of the United States and Britain.

The charges were made in a diplomatic note published by the government paper Izvestia and broadcast by Moscow radio.

The United States in its note accused the Soviet Union of trying to sabotage the Geneva nuclear test ban conference. It urged the Soviet government to make a new start "despite the lateness of the hour."

Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's speech this week and recent statements on the German problem. He repeated this country's determination to employ every diplomatic means available in seeking a peaceful solution of the cold war clash over Berlin.

Asked about the rash of plane hijackings, Kennedy said he hopes successful procedures can be worked out to prevent new incidents.

He went on to note that Wednesday's Pan American jet hijacking was the work of a Frenchman who said he had been treated earlier this year for mental aberrations.

The Continental Airlines jet piracy last week over Texas was perpetrated by a father and son, one of whom also has been treated for mental weakness, he said.

These episodes suggest that a "lunatic fringe" has taken to hijacking as a means of gaining publicity, Kennedy said.

An Eastern Air Lines Electra, commandeered by an unidentified hijacker last month has been held in Havana by the Castro government.

Even with this in mind, Kennedy said he felt it important for Americans "to act with the prudence worthy of a great power."

The inter-American conference now in progress in Uruguay is of vital significance to development of needy countries of the Western Hemisphere, Kennedy said, and this country should avoid rocking the boat by getting "so over excited" about aircraft hijackings on the basis of information "which is faulty or incomplete."

During the news conference, lasting little more than a half hour, Kennedy also spoke on these other subjects:

NUCLEAR—The panel which he assigned the task of determining whether tests can be conducted without revealing the fact through earth shocks has turned in a highly classified report. But Kennedy said he could disclose that its findings have made him feel "more urgently than ever" than nuptial ion system as proposed by the United States and Great Britain is essential to any nuclear test ban agreement.

Asked if Dean's mission to Geneva would be this government's last try at reaching agreement, Kennedy said the Soviet attitude would be immediately apparent by its response.

"We will try always if there is any genuine hope of success," Kennedy added. "But as I have indicated, this probably is a decisive meeting, because we will now find out whether there is any prospect of bringing an end to nuclear testing."

SPACE—The United States is now spending as much in personnel and money as it can on space programs without reaching a point of diminishing returns, the President said. He expressed hope, however, that the rate of U.S. space progress can be accelerated.

Kennedy said he is satisfied in his own mind that the U.S.S.R. has placed two men in global orbit.

And he said this country cannot permit another nation whose attitude toward us may be hostile to stay ahead.

Furthermore, Kennedy said the United States would act in the United Nations General Assembly this fall toward achieving an international agreement on the use of space.

GERMAN—Kennedy said the United States has not attempted to encourage or discourage the flight of thousands upon thousands of East Germans through the West Berlin escape hatch to the free world.

He said the movement from East to West is of concern to the Communists because it presents "rather illuminating evidence of the comparative values of free life and open society and those in a closed society, under the Communist system."

FORUMS—Kennedy was asked about the controversy which grew from a memo that Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., sent to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara protesting the role of military officers in public forums which the senator said have distorted their declared objective of educating Americans on the Communist menace.

The President said the Constitution wisely keeps the military out of politics. A problem will always exist, he went on, in enabling military men to express their views on great problems while keeping them out of political life and maintaining civilian control over the armed forces. But he said the National Security Council should clarify the directive on which the military services have based their educational programs.

SUMMIT—Kennedy said, as he has before, that no East-West summit conference will be useful unless advance groundwork has been laid to insure some success. As for a meeting of the Western heads of government, he said he is prepared to enter such a conference "if it should prove important in coordinating our policy on any matter." He mentioned Berlin as a particular matter that might be dealt with.

INABILITY—Kennedy said he had established the same setup that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower worked out to provide

Fires In City

The fire companies were called at 3:46 o'clock Wednesday afternoon to the residence of Sophie Pogue, 602 West Sixth, where an electric fan had shorted out. Slight damage resulted.

Accidents

No injuries were received in an accident at Lamine and Cooper at 3:35 p. m. Wednesday.

Involved were a 1955 Chevrolet driven by Jesse W. Smith, 45, 707 South Lafayette, and a 1953 Ford driven by Cylester F. Wyatt, 61, 409 North Osage.

The Chevrolet was westbound on Cooper and the Ford was headed south on Lamine when the accident occurred.

The front of the Ford and right side of the Chevrolet were damaged.

Police Reports

A hitchhiker picked up by Sedalia police about noon Wednesday and found to be an escapee from the state hospital in Fulton has been released and returned to his home in Moberly.

Officers said the man is a former mental patient. He escaped from the Fulton hospital in 1952, and later became a ward of the court in Moberly. In the investigation Sedalia police contacted the hospital, and hospital officials advised the man be held for Boone County.

Boone County officials said they did not want the man, and advised the local officials to return him to Moberly. Friends picked him up later in the day.

Thursday morning Mrs. Guy Smith, 113 State Fair Blvd., reported that someone stole a tricycle out of her back yard.

Early Thursday morning officers received a report of a prowler at 405 West Fifth. On investigation the officers found nothing except pigeons walking around on the roof.

An Airline six transistor radio was lost at the Liberty Park ball diamond Tuesday night. The radio was lost by Carol Huffman, 1723 West Fourth.

A small boy reportedly took a billfold containing important papers and $5 to $10 in cash from a purse belonging to Mrs. Viola Waller, 703 West 24th, sometime Wednesday afternoon.

Guardman Gets Award From Paper

Sgt. Melvin L. Jones, a member of the Second Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery, local Army National Guard unit, was named Wednesday as recipient of the St. Louis Post-Dispatch outstanding award for National Guardsmen in his battalion.

The award, presented annually by the newspaper to the top Guardsman in each Missouri battalion, went to a member of the local unit last year also, Sp-4 Edward Elsbury.

Based on proficiency, efficiency and good conduct, recipients for the award are picked after being screened by two boards composed of battery commanders, staff officers and Army advisors. The Second Howitzer Battalion, 128th Artillery has units in Sedalia, Booneville and Kirksville.

Sgt. Jones, son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Jones, 912 Crescent Drive, resides with his wife, Barbara, at 1202 South Lamine. He joined the National Guard in 1957 and serves as chief fire director computer with the local unit.

Demand Ban On Refugees Fleeing Reds

BERLIN (AP)—Communist groups in East Germany today demanded a total ban on East Germans traveling to West Berlin.

The proposal to close the escape hatch to the West came from new factory committees formed to help dam the tide of fleeing refugees.

The Communist regime already has limited permits for official or private travel, reinforced police guards to intercept the refugees, and taken measures to intimidate the estimated 80,000 East Germans who commute to work in West Berlin daily.

But about 2,000 refugees a day are slipping through the Red net to West Berlin.

The official East German news agency ADN announced formation of the factory committees "to combat the trading in humanity," the way the Communists describe the exodus.

A private West Berlin intelligence agency reported the first act of these committees was to demand a total ban on travel to West Berlin or West Germany "until the situation is normal again." Such "spontaneous demands" are often used by the Communists to justify official action.

The East German press, radio and television kept up an intensive campaign branding the refugees as criminals and enemies of socialism.

The factory committees have the role of watching their fellow workers and stepping in with persuasion when they suspect an intention to flee. Workers who ignore Communist advice are to be dealt with administratively, which means police action.

West German officials said they may have to open another camp to cope with the stream of refugees.

Nearly 150,000 Germans have fled to the West so far this year—compared with 200,000 for all 1960—and the tide is showing no sign of ebbing.

Once across the line, the refugees are being flown to West Germany.

Jesse W. Smith, 707 South Lafayette, charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded innocent and was found innocent.

Cylester F. Wyatt, 409 North Osage, charged with careless and reckless driving, pleaded innocent and was found innocent.

Melvin Richard Carwile, Lexington, charged with careless and reckless driving while drinking, failed to appear and his $75 bond was ordered forfeited.

Jury Trial Ends Before Jurors Are Sworn In

1st Lt. Ted Ruben Leth, White-man AFB, pleaded guilty to a speeding charge Thursday morning and ended a Magistrate Court jury trial before it began.

Leth, who said he is a pilot at the base, appeared Wednesday morning in Magistrate Court charged with speeding 80 miles per hour in a 70-mile zone. Highway Patrol radar had made the check.

At the Wednesday appearance, Magistrate Judge Frank Armstrong informed Leth of his right to a jury trial, or his right to have the trial at that time. Leth chose a jury trial, and Sheriff Emmett Fairfax procured a panel of prospective jurors for Thursday.

Thursday morning the jurors appeared, ready for the trial. Leth, however, after considering the matter overnight, changed his mind and entered a plea of guilty. He was fined $25 and court costs.

The prospective jurors did not get paid. Judge Armstrong said after the hearing, because the hearing ended before the jury was sworn in.

"They took the matter in pretty good faith, though," the judge added.

Rep. Keating Speaker At Lions Club

State Representative Thomas Keating of Pettis County was the speaker at the noonday meeting of the Sedalia Lions Club, Wednesday. Rep. Keating reviewed his first session in the State Legislature and discussed several legislative bills which were passed and others that were brought up.

One of the bills in particular brought up in his talk and discussed by the members was the two-cent gasoline tax hike which becomes effective in October until a special election can be held on the proposed two-cent legislation to be voted upon by the people in the form of a change in the Missouri Constitution.

Keating explained the bill will be for the 2-cent tax raise, one cent to go to the State Highway Department and the other to be divided among cities and towns, cities to be appropriated ¾ cents and counties one-fourth cent, and distributed on a per capita basis.

He explained Sedalia's allotment would be about $100,000 or far more than the City now collects under the one-cent city tax which he estimated at about $55,000. The county would receive approximately $35,000, while it does not receive gasoline tax monies at the present time.

The amendment will prohibit cities to have a gasoline tax, throughout the state.

If the amendment is defeated, he explained, it is possible the Governor will call for a special session of the Legislature and ask the Legislature to pass a two-cent tax, all of which would go to the State Highway Department, and none would be divided between the cities or counties. The cities however could continue with their own tax.

He spoke on the much discussed income tax bill, and others. He also brought out the controversial bill on drunk driving whereby a person would submit to a blood test, test by breath etc., to determine if he was driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. This bill was not adopted. However, a point system bill was passed by the Legislature which provides for points to be placed on a drivers license for various traffic violations, 12 of which would be cause to void the license.

The speaker touched briefly on the redistricting of Missouri for Congressional Districts, and explained Pettis County is now in District Four which has Congressman William Randall as its congressman. He explained Congressman Morgan Moulder is now in a new district and his opponent will be Rep. Ichord, should both decide to run for the office again.

Rep. Keating was introduced by the program chairman, Al Domingue.

President Kenneth Leslie presided over the meeting.

A report was made of the recent District G Cabinet meeting held in Warrensburg last Sunday which D. Kelly Scruton and E. B. Smith, International Councilors, attended. Smith as Cabinet secretary to District Governor Woody Austin, and Scruton was named as publicity director of the district. Both were presented pins designating their respective offices in the cabinet.

Guests at the meeting were Ferris Taylor, Excelsior Springs and Don Barrett, Neosho, guests of Don King, Lloyd Farris of Ray Anderson, and Dr. Clifford Katem. DDS, of Dr. O. J. Durnell.

Type and Shape of Pan Make a Difference in Baking

Pans rather than the recipe or the oven may be blamed when muffins, cookies, cakes, biscuits, or other baked products do not brown properly. The same recipe baked in the same oven for the same length of time at the same temperature may brown differently in different pans. In one kind of pan, it may come out a nice even medium brown, in another it may be too pale, and in still another, too dark, or unevenly browned.

In many testing kitchens where recipes are developed today, aluminum pans are used because they do not change much with age or use, and do not corrode, chip or break. Because recipes developed in aluminum may give different results in enamelware, glass or tin, the cook may need to change the baking time and temperature accordingly. Oven temperature may well be reduced 25 degrees below that given in the recipe and the baking time increased five minutes if glass or enamelware is used for cooking.

In general, enamelware baking pans give the deepest brown and glass ranks next in rapid browning. In enamelware, the browning often is mottled because this material does not distribute heat evenly. In aluminum and tin, the browning is less rapid but more even than enamelware unless the pan is unevenly dark, or thin and warped so that the heat is uneven. Warped pans should not be used as the cakes or bread baked in them will be lopsided and unevenly browned.

The shape of the pan also influences browning. A sweet bread or cake baked in a square pan, especially if the pan is enamelware, is likely to become too brown at the corners. Browning is more even in pans with rounded corners. In a deep, high-sided pan, biscuits and cookies often come out too pale because the high sides "shade" them from the radiant heat. They brown better on a flat sheet, a cookie sheet, or on the bottom of an inverted pan that has sides.

Pan size counts too, in browning. If the pan is too large for the recipe, a cake or bread mixture may be spread too thin and become too brown, humped in the middle, and be hard and dry. The pan should be placed near the center of the oven. If more than one pan needs to go in the oven, keep them as near the center of the oven as possible. Do not let the pans touch. They should not touch the sides of the oven as the heat needs to flow around them. Do not place the pans directly over each other, but stagger them for proper baking.

Leavening Agents
A leavening agent produces gas in the batter or dough. It makes the batter or dough light as the gas bubbles form in the dough. Gluten is formed when two flour proteins are combined with liquid. This type of leavening is the most common.

Air may be incorporated into batters or doughs in several ways. It may be beaten into eggs, creamed in fat, sifted into flour, kneaded or beaten into a dough or batter. Under heat, the air expands helping to make the product light.

Steam is a leavener which is produced by the action of heat on the liquid of the mixture. Cream puffs and popovers serve as excellent examples of this type of leavening.

Yeast is a tiny plant that generates carbon dioxide gas as it multiplies and grows. The gas bubbles throughout the flour mixture and makes the dough light and porous. Fermentation is the name applied to the changes which occur in the dough as the yeast does its work.

Baking soda is a chemical leavening agent that produces carbon dioxide gas when mixed with an acid as sour milk, molasses or fruit juice.

Baking powder is made up of a combination of soda, an acid in dry form and a filler, such as flour or starch to keep soda and the acid dry so they cannot neutralize each other.

Cake mixes are practical, their results are dependable, and they save time.

Most girls want to learn how to bake with and without mixes. It is interesting to compare the time, cost and money-quality of the cakes made from the beginning and when made with a mix. You can have a great variety of desserts from cake mixes. Serve them as is fresh from the oven, put on a broiled topping, or toast slices if the cake is more than four hours old. Have you tried using lemon custard angel food mix baked in a jelly roll pan? You can roll this up like a jelly roll, and as a filling use ice cream, fruit sauce or frozen berries or peaches. For a party, frost it with whipped cream or whipped milk. Garnish with toasted coconut.

A grade-A mix cake is uniform in shape, slightly rounded on top, uniform golden brown, on top side and bottom, the crust is thin and tender, the crumb velvety, texture is even and fine, and the flavor typical of the kind of cake.

If your cake from the mix has a hump or peak, you may have overmixed or your oven was too hot during the baking. However, if it falls in the center, it may be due to too slow baking. Lopsided layers could be due to uneven heat or shelves warped pans or incorrect placement of pans. If your cake is undersize, it may be due to undermixing the batter or overmixing or too large a pan. Too long baking will also give a dry crumb.

Lost and Found
A pair of sun glasses and pair of white gloves were left at Achievement Day and are now in the Extension Office.

BETTER ROSES THIS FALL . . . and NEXT YEAR

Late summer, early fall is a critical time for roses in these parts. Warm, muggy days promote the harmful activity of black spot, mildew and other diseases.

The result is loss of leaves, naked stems, weak plants, fewer flowers.

You can stop all this, develop sturdier plants, enjoy more blossoms when you protect your rose bushes with HAZE applied as a dry powder with Scotts new Zephyr.

Always ready to go. Nothing to mix, measure or spill. You do the whole job on a dozen bushes in less than 2 minutes.

Come in and let us demonstrate. We have a "Special" on the Lifetime Zephyr — $9.95. Haze is $1.45.

More Farm Loan Funds Available

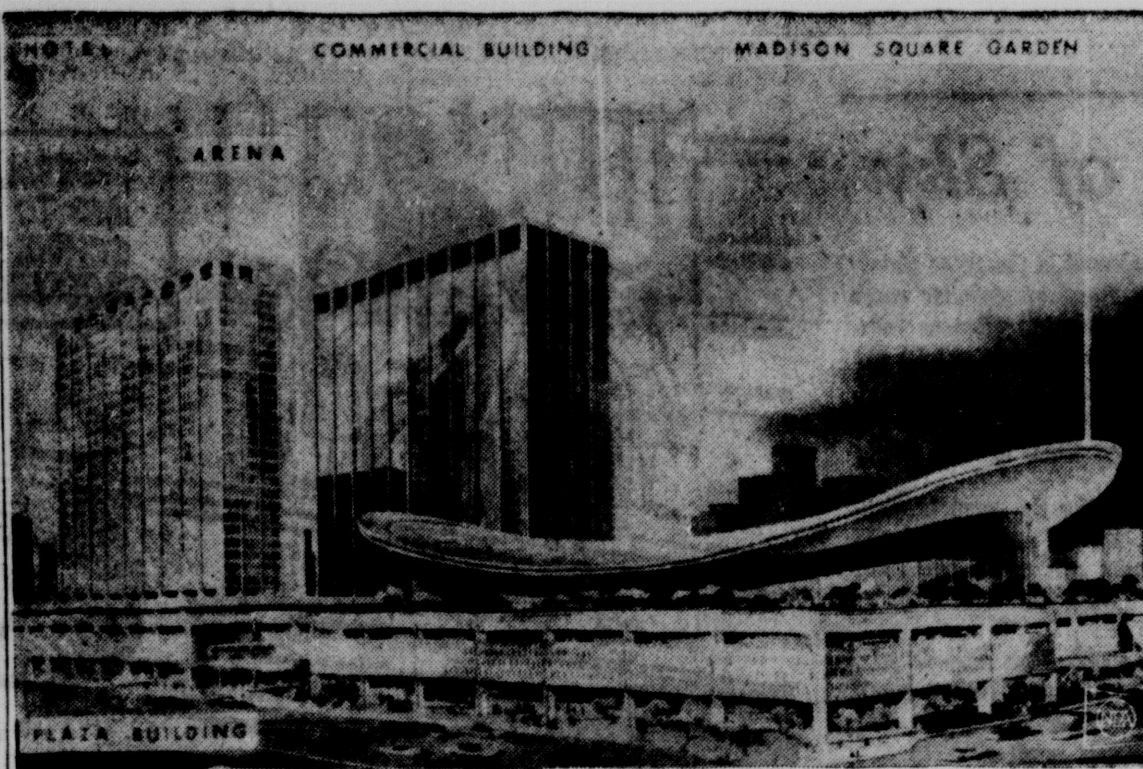

Kenneth F. Fine, County Supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration at Sedalia, reports that farm ownership funds are now available to make loans for farmers to buy, refinance, enlarge, or improve farms. More money has been made available to the agency for this purpose this year than has been available in the past. These loans bear five percent interest and can be made for a period up to forty years. Eighty eight farmers in Pettis County have used this credit to improve their positions as farm owners.

This program started in 1938 and since that time 5,138 Missouri farmers have been helped toward farm ownership. These farmers borrowed $46,129,308. According to County Supervisor Fine 2,508 of these have paid their loans in full in the amount of $20,013,665 principal, along with $9,471,292 interest. Losses have totaled only $48,806, or one-tenth of one per cent of the principal loaned.

Along with the increased money available, there will be some administrative changes that will let the Farmers Home Administration serve a greater number of farmers. Details of these changes will be announced in the near future.

The Farmers Home Administration program is Missouri is administered through 60 field offices. Information regarding farm ownership, housing and operating loans made by the Farmers Home Administration may be secured from the local office serving Pettis County. This office is located at 605 South Massachusetts.

Judges Meet, Election Set In November

The last 1961 quarterly meeting of the Central Missouri Counties Judges Association, to include the election of officers for 1962, will be held in Sedalia, according to association president Judge C. M. Purchase of the Pettis County Court.

The meeting will be held Nov. 7, however, the location of the meeting has not been determined. Judge Purchase, in noting that Pettis County has been host to more than half the meetings of the association since its organization a few years ago, said he and the other two members of the Pettis County Court, Presiding Judge C. Berry Elliott and Judge E. L. Birdsong, extended the invitation at the association meeting held recently in Fulton. At the Fulton meeting, Judge Purchase, as association president, appointed the nominating committee to present a slate of candidates for the various offices to be voted on in November.

This committee consists of Judge E. L. Birdsong, Pettis County; Judge James A. Schooling, Lafayette County; Judge Herman Nolting, Morgan County; Judge Cecil Oswald, Cooper County; and Judge Henry F. Scheurer, Moniteau County. More than 60 guests, representing

Army Planning To Up Strength Of 3 Divisions

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army says it will beef up three training divisions to fighting strength and add them to the 14 combat divisions already on active duty.

The Army also announced Tuesday, that it will open Ft. Carson, Colo., Sept. 7 as a training facility capable of handling 16,000 men at one time.

First task of the new training center will be to provide basic training for the men needed to build up to combat strength the 1st Infantry Division at Ft. Riley, Kan., and 2nd Infantry at Ft. Benning, Ga., and the 2nd Armored Division at Ft. Hood, Tex.

Men's Choral Club Preparing For Its Fall Season

The Sedalia Men's Choral Club which has been popular for a number of years in Sedalia and surrounding area is getting all set to start its Fall season.

New members will be welcome to join the club, and, according to Bob Overstreet, president, there are several vacancies in all sections. All that is required for membership, he went on to say, is a love for singing and good fellowship and a half-way knowledge of music reading.

The Fall season will open with a picnic at the Catholic Community Center Tuesday, Aug. 29 to which new members and their families are invited.

The first rehearsal will be held on Tuesday, Sept. 12.

Letters have been sent out to the PTA and other organizations in the Sedalia trade territory asking them to request bookings if they would like to have the Choral Club appear so the Club may make out their schedule for the year.

Keeping Crime Out of Sky

We Americans often are said to be overburdened with laws. That our civil aircraft and their passengers are so poorly protected against hijackers and other criminals has therefore been a startling discovery.

It is almost literally true that a commercial plane has been a kind of legal no man's land, a piece of lawless territory aloft.

That federal agencies and the Congress now are moving to close this gap only emphasizes past neglect.

All signs on Capitol Hill suggest we will soon have a tough law on the books. But four hijacking episodes in quick series have federal aviation agency lawyers searching vainly for anything applicable to those fantastic developments.

Actually, aviation law is nearly blank on crimes committed while a plane is airborne. That law has had one main goal — aircraft safety.

When the Eastern Airlines Electra was hijacked and taken to Cuba, the justice department had to comb U. S. statutes to charge the culprit in absentia. It finally came up with kidnapping, stealing an aircraft in interstate commerce "and crime on the high seas."

Two of these same charges were lodged against the pair which tried to take a jet to Cuba but were finally subdued at El Paso.

Legislation being shaped in Congress plainly must cover not just these spectacular cases but a wide range of possible offenses committed in flight. As one aviation official put it wryly:

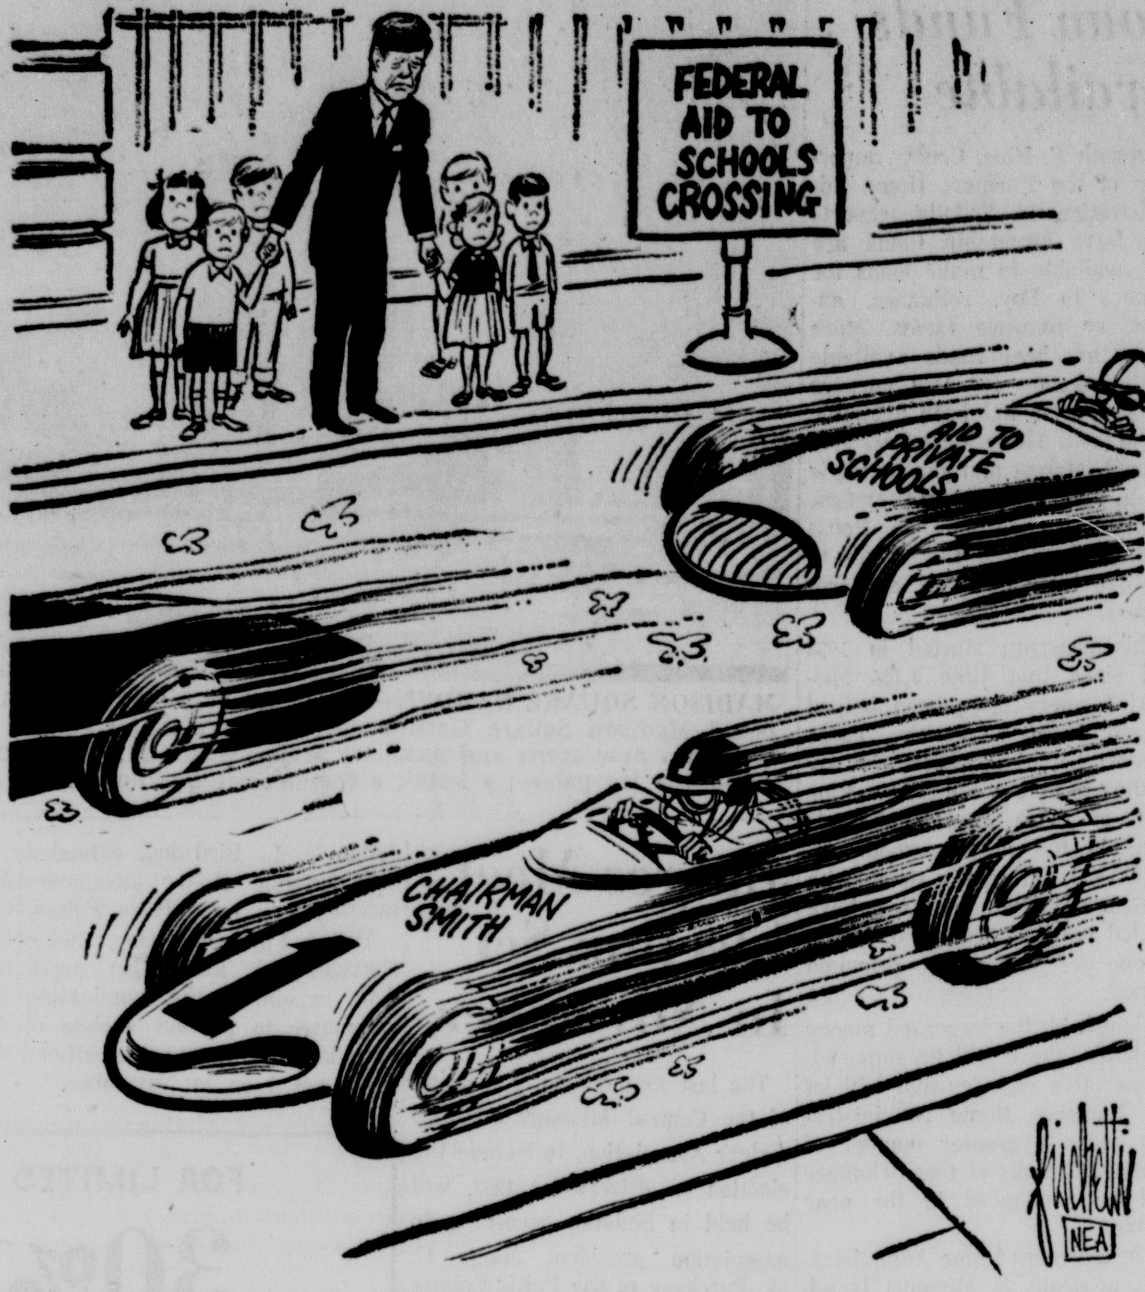

"Our planes have gotten big enough in the last few years to make room for the major vices."

Leave hijacking aside for the moment. Suppose murder, arson, simple assault, molestation and such offenses are committed aloft. What law governs? What state takes jurisdiction?

In an age of high speed, high altitude jets, when borders are fuzzily seen and a small state is crossed in eight or 10 minutes, old notions of state authority seem obsolete.

Most Americans will probably welcome, then, the lawmakers intent not only to equate hijacking with piracy (with mandatory life sentence) but to cover many crimes with a stiff federal law.

Yet any provisions, executive or legislative, calling either for arming a plane crew or installing armed guards aboard must be applied with extreme caution. Airborne gunfights could bring danger both to individual passengers and to the plane itself, proof of which was demonstrated clearly by the fatalities in the Cuban hijacking episode reported today.

The World Today

Hijackings Compounded of Confusion

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Before your blood pressure goes up, thinking of Fidel Castro and hijacked American planes, look at the record. It's a dizzy, almost incredible story, compounded of confusion.

So far as the record shows Castro initiated none of the hijackings. There were four. Three of the four planes were forced to land in Cuba. Castro immediately released two, kept one. The fourth got detoured to El Paso.

None of the five hijackers involved was a Cuban citizen. Two were Americans from Arizona, one was a Frenchman, one a Puerto Rican, and one, a waiter, was born in Cuba but had become a naturalized American citizen.

Meanwhile Cubans fleeing Castro hijacked or flew 24 of his planes to this country. The United States returned 14 of them to him. The other 10 were seized under a court order to be sold for a debt owed by the Cuban government to a Miami businessman.

And if Castro had used his head he probably could have gotten the 10 back, too. How? A State Department spokesman said: If Castro had invoked Cuban sovereignty over the planes the American court most likely would have refused to let the planes be seized.

Why didn't he do that, since it sounds so simple? The State Department spokesman said this was the answer: He probably didn't know how he could do that, or he didn't think of it, or perhaps he couldn't find a lawyer to represent him here.

But that's only the beginning. Wednesday a French gunman, over Mexico and at gunpoint, forced the pilot of a Pan American World Airways plane with 81 persons aboard to fly him to Havana. After it was all over an official of the airline said the gunman was incoherent and had no connection with Cuba. Crew members described the hijacker as wild eyed and apparently mentally disturbed.

Before all this was known there were angry shouts in Congress. But Castro would not have had to send an agent to Mexico to capture a Pan American plane. Pan American is the only American airline still maintaining regular flights between Cuba and this country. So if Castro wanted to, he could have helped himself to some Pan American planes on the ground in Havana.

But this would have been the worst possible time to hijack an American plane. All the American nations are meeting right now in Uruguay where the United States has offered $20 billion in Latin-American aid.

One of Castro's chief lieutenants, Ernesto Guevara, is there, trying to make the United States look like a villain. He made a speech to that effect. Castro would be the villain if he turned hijacker at this time.

The truly ludicrous touch came here:

Instead of trying to chastise Castro directly, the United States is anxious for the Latin-American countries to crack down on him. No one has been working harder to get just this crackdown on Castro than the Colombian foreign minister, Julio Cesar Turbay Ayala. And Castro knows it. By chance, the minister was on the plane hijacked Wednesday and forced down in Havana.

If Castro had tried to hold him there would have been a Latin-American explosion. Castro's government lost no time in announcing it was releasing the plane right away "in deference to the Colombian minister." Castro even went to the airport to see him. The diplomat quoted Castro as expressing mortification.

The Mature Parent

Permissiveness Has Become Plain Laziness

By Mrs. Muriel Lawrence
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
Dear Mrs. Lawrence:

You like modern kids so much I wish you had mine. Tie this. Last fall I bought my 14-year-old girl a winter coat. She chose it. Nothing would do but that she should have an off-white, fuzzy number she found on a rack. I warned her that it would shed and soil easily. No, she had to have it. Now I'm told that she'll die before she wears it again next winter. As a kid myself, I wore a winter coat three years.

ANSWER: But your mother didn't just stand around while you chose one she knew wouldn't wear for three years.

Why did you permit this purchase?

Now I am going to tell you what I would do in your place. I would face my own irresponsibility in allowing my daughter to make a decision she hadn't the experience to make. I would accept the consequences of that irresponsibility.

Instead of trying to force her to wear this coat next winter, of fussing at her mistaken choice, I would agree to buy her a new one — and this time claim the decision on its practicality.

We teach responsibility to children by demonstrating it.

Man yof us don't. We let Johnny order a rich ice cream sundae—and then say "I told you so" when he gets sick in the bus going home. We let him evade his homework — and then blow up when he brings home a failing mark. We let a daughter buy a coat that we know is impractical—and then accuse her of extravagance when she comes around to agree with what we knew.

What is it but irresponsibility in us that stands by when bad decisions are made — and then goes all virtuous and indignant when we are involved in the bad results?

"Permissiveness"—that starry-eyed doctrine of child training—has provided American parents with a lovely lazy holiday from responsibility. It's got us off the hook of caring about what happens, of the hard job of judging a child's capacities for ourselves, of incurring disagreeable resentments at a firm and lonely "No." It's time the vacation was over. Because children can be given too many decisions. They can be allowed to make so many bad ones that they become afraid of decision. In adolescence and early adulthood, they can start running away from responsibility that has been made too punishing, too humiliating by over-responsible childhoods.

Democrat Pick-ups

By News Staff

The little granddaughter of the national president of the Business and Professional Women's Club had been watching "Rawhide" on television. She left the program to hunt up her grandmother.

"Don't you know somebody in Sedalia, Mo.?" she asked. "Yes," replied her grandmother, "Hazel Palmer lives there."

"Well," said the little girl, "They are driving cattle to Sedalia."

A few days later the little girl called to her excitedly: "They've got to Sedalia with the cattle. Don't you want to come and see the town where Miss Palmer lives?"

The grandmother got a big laugh out of it. Because she was sure the town where the cattle were driven didn't look like the town in which Miss Palmer lived. There has been considerable change in it since the cattle drive. — H. L.

The little girl was trying to iron her skirt but she just didn't seem to make any headway. She worked and she worked but the wrinkles refused to come out. "What in the world is the matter with this skirt?" she said. "I can't get the wrinkles out."

Then she discovered there was nothing wrong with the skirt. There was something wrong with the iron. It wasn't plugged in. — H. L.

The Doctor Says

Gay Young Blades Keep Coed's Love Burning

By Harold Thomas Hyman, M.D.
Written for Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—I have a burning problem, my chin. After a date when I've been kissed three or four times—I mean really kissed, meaningfully—my chin develops a brownish red discoloration or beard burn. After 24 hours the beard burn peels off leaving bruised or burned tissue that gives off watery matter for three or four days before healing.

I'm a 21-year-old coed, doctor, and I have no intention of giving up men for the rest of my life. But neither do I want to wear a chin guard when I go out on a date.

The boys I go out with are clean-cut and clean shaven. Must I settle for the idea of marrying a chinless specimen of manhood? I'm afraid I might become chinless myself if I marry a real he-man.

A—I have good news for Miss Beard Rash of 1961 and a possible solution for this burning problem.

I suggest the possibility that you're allergic to some ingredient of toilet preparation or cosmetic used by your "clean-cut and clean shaven" boy friends. Perhaps it's the shaving soap. Or the menthol that's added to some shaving soaps. Or the after-shave lotion. Or whatever else the dashing young blades of today put on their faces before they go sparking.

I still have a vivid memory of my first experience with these puzzling skin allergies. The complainant was the wife of a furrier. She was sensitive to a dye he used in his work. He was not. Just as in the case of my correspondent, it, too, failed to respond to local applications. But it vanished rapidly and permanently when the furrier was persuaded to scrub his hands before he started for home.

Now at risk of bringing down criticism on my graying head, I'd suggest that our coed make another date with the last chap who was responsible for her chin rash. Only this time, tell him to prepare for the tryst by taking a dry shave, perhaps with an electric shaver. That and nothing else.

If the burn fails to develop, ask him to bring around the toilet articles and cosmetics he used before the previous date. Apply a sample of each to specified areas of your inner arms.

If a rash appears, your problem is solved. You may safely marry an all-American "he-man." And may all your sons have dimpled chins, just like Cary Grant's.

to take care of.

If the government handles prepaid medical care through, let's say, Social Security, then many insurance companies lose sizeable chunks of business. Thus, insurance companies are working overtime these days to create adequate low cost prepaid medical care plans. Many splendid insurance programs are the result of this effort.

Dear Reader: Please send your questions to me, Arthur Lord, in care of this newspaper. Look for an answer to those of general interest in future columns.

DEAR ARTHUR: Why are there so many new prepaid medical insurance programs these days? That's all I ever seem to hear about.

HARRY: DEAR HARRY: What you are witnessing, Harry, is the reaction of scared insurance companies. If government encroachment in the field of medical care is to be avoided, then private enterprise must act fast and fulfill the needs that the government "threatens."

DEAR CELIA: First look for the proper medical and nursing care. Couple this with a home that will actively seek to rehabilitate your mother so that she can return to the community, if she wants to.

U. S. Chiefs Gloomy Over Moon Shot

(Editor's Note — While Drew Pearson is reporting from Berlin his associate, Jack Anderson, is writing alternate columns from Washington.)

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Gherman Titov's 25-hour spin through space has convinced the most stubborn skeptics in the Pentagon that Russia has pulled far ahead of the United States in space technology.

Every communique that Titov delivered from on high or the Kremlin issued from below was confirmed by our own satellite trackers who easily tuned in on the Cosmonaut's pulse, respiration, and other reactions.

Only the TV views of Titov in flight, apparently triggered to transmit over Russia alone, couldn't be intercepted.

From the telemeter tapes and intelligence reports, here are some alarming facts:

The Russians brought the space craft down, after it had whirled around the world 17 times at 300 miles a minute, at the precise point they had announced it would land: Kazakhstan, 450 miles south of Moscow. This is dramatic evidence that the Russians have developed a superior, sophisticated guidance and control system. Our own scientists wouldn't dare try to call their shot before pulling a satellite down from orbit.

Titov ate, slept, and moved inside a pressurized cabin, a bubble of atmosphere in space, that our scientists still cannot duplicate.

While the Soviets prepared to wow the world with their spectacular space stunt, they were not neglecting their long range missiles. They have fired a dozen ballistic giants across Siberia during the past two months from the Aral Sea to the Kamchatka Peninsula. Our experts suspect the Russians may be testing new fuels.

American space chiefs, meeting in emergency session at the National Space and Aeronautics Administration, agreed gloomily that Titov's feat meant it will be almost impossible to beat Russia with the first man on the moon.

Soviet scientists are already planning an underground lunar base which would be built in the moon's caves rather than craters. The plan is to dig tunnels about 15 yards under the moon's surface, using a system of inner doors and connecting passages.

Note: America's Astronauts have sent word to headquarters that they are ready and eager to follow Russia's space explorers into orbit. All seven are willing to take the risk now rather than wait for preliminary tests with dummies and chimpanzees. They contend that Columbus would never have discovered America if he had waited around until everything was absolutely safe.

"On Wisconsin"

The attractive young governor of Wisconsin, Gaylord Nelson, has decided to save his beautiful state's outdoor resources. His legislature, mostly Republican, has approved the Democratic governor's plan to spend fifty million dollars to preserve the lakes, streams and woodlands of Wisconsin.

The governor realized what was happening. With today's added leisure there are more cars, more boats, more swimmers, more campers, overcrowding and even spoiling camping and recreational areas. Polluted waters make swimming impossible and hazardous. Game and fishing grounds are shrinking.

Governor Nelson's plan is to spend the fifty-million gradually by buying up large areas of available land to preserve them. Roadside slums and bill boards will be cleaned up to improve the scenic beauty. The lakes surrounding Madison, the capital of the state and other communities will continue to have free beaches for everyone, with special restrictions against litter and pollution.

Wisconsin is setting a good example for America the Beautiful.

Law by Machine

We have been cautioned by some economists that, with machines doing more and more brain work, some management men should tremble for their jobs. Now it seems some of the professional fellows may have to worry, too.

A project is under way to see if what the lawyers call "law searching"—the hunt for judicial precedents in particular cases—can be mechanized by a machine index system. Naturally this is supposed to aid, not replace, lawyers. But if the Jonker Business Machines people pull this one off, a trend might set in. We might find ourselves moving toward the day when a murder trial jury will get its "summing up" from two electronic gadgets doling out cards neatly totting up the arguments.

In First Game of Playoffs

Merchants Crush BJ Chiefs 22-5

The Sedalia Merchants more than got their foot in the door of the City Championship playoffs with the Sedalia Chiefs, Ban Johnson team, when the Merchants had a great big field night of 22 to 5. No decision was made as to a second and third game.

It was all over after the top of the first inning when the Merchants started off with a hard try to capture the first game. But it was easier than they anticipated when they scored eight runs. The Chiefs gathered in a single run in the bottom half of the inning.

After that the Merchants didn't put the pressure on and went along scoring at ease. The Chiefs just couldn't collect themselves at any time during the game, resulting in the one-sided affair.

Jim Falls led the attack for the Merchants with five hits, two of which went for doubles. Billy Dey and Charles Newman both collected four safeties. Dey getting a double while Newman had a triple. Higgins' two hits went for a triple and a double.

Hitting power on the Chiefs was Horner who had two hits, one a double, while Ray Schnakenberg had two, both doubles.

After that first inning the Chiefs just seem to let up and didn't display the hustle of a team with a desire to win. The Merchants reported they were out to take a win in the first inning, but didn't anticipate a 22 run scoring spree.

The score:

Merchants 924 113 011—22 25 3
Chiefs101 020 100—5 6 4

Batteries: Koons, Kubli (6) and Newman; for the Chiefs H. D. White, J. Schnakenberg (6) and Anderson, Bradley (6).

The Merchants announced they would play Warrensburg at Liberty Park under the lights on Monday night.

Yanks Still Lead

Yankees, Tigers Setting Fast Pace in AL Circuit

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The way things are going in the American League race, you can forget about it until Sept. 1. That is when the New York Yankees and Detroit Tigers next meet.

And if the Yankees keep going the way they are, Detroit can forget about it all.

The Tigers beat the Chicago White Sox 8-2 Wednesday night. It was the sixth victory in seven games for second place Detroit, yet the Tigers didn't gain an inch on New York.

The Yankees won their seventh in a row in an afternoon game by knocking off the Los Angeles Angels for the eighth time in eight tries in Yankee Stadium, 2-0, behind the four-hit pitching of Jim Coates.

Kansas City dropped third-place Baltimore 12½ games behind New York by beating the Orioles 2-1. Cleveland defeated Washington by 3-1 on Gary Bell's three-hitter, and Boston beat Minnesota 5-4.

In the National League, the Los Angeles Dodgers clung to a one-game edge by whipping Milwaukee 8-3 after second place Cincinnati rapped Philadelphia 5-0. San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5, and St. Louis beat Pittsburgh 4-0.

Right-hander Frank Lary (16-6) pitched his 15th complete game, tops in the majors, for the Tigers, allowing just five hits. Rocky Colavito's 31st home run gave Detroit a 2-1 lead in the third inning, but Jim Landis then tied it in the fourth with his 16th home run. That's the way it stood until the eighth, when Al Kaline got to Cal McLish (7-11) for a homer.

The Tigers got their five in the ninth on six walks and a pair of two-run singles.

Ted Bowfield (8-4) of the Angels held the Yankees hitless until Mickey Mantle led off the fifth inning with a single. The Mick came around on a single by Elston Howard and a sacrifice fly by Bill Skowron.

A single by Jim Rivera and Leo Posada's double gave the A's the winning run in the seventh inning at Baltimore against Jack Fisher (5-11). Jerry Walker (5-8) checked his former mates for four singles.

Bell (8-11) walked two and struck out eight while giving up a pair of singles and a first-inning home run by rookie Bud Zupfel. The Indians came from behind in the fourth, beating John Gabler (3-4) on Johnny Romano's two-run single.

Mike Forniels saved it for the Red Sox, retiring Jose Valdivielso, Bill Tuttle and Ted Lepcio on five pitches in the ninth. Gene Conley (6-10) won it. Jack Kralick (10-8) was the loser.

Right-hander Frank Lary (16-6) pitched his 15th complete game, tops in the majors, for the Tigers, allowing just five hits. Rocky Colavito's 31st home run gave Detroit a 2-1 lead in the third in-

Palmer Back At Hartford For Tourney

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A happy Arnold Palmer, he of the strong jaw and rugged muscles, is back at the Wethersfield Country Club today to compete in the $30,000 Insurance City open golf tournament.

He loves to come here, and the feeling is mutual. It's a must stop for the famed pro.

The 1961 British Open champion from Latrobe, Pa., has never forgotten that he won his first American major prize as a pro in the ICGO. It was his start on the road to riches and fame back in 1956.

Ever since, he's been the darling of the galleries during the annual four-day, 72-hole test, and has been worthy of it.

Last year, after winning the Masters and National Open, Palmer staged one of his come-from-behind victories to become the ICGO's first double winner. Now he is a top favorite to win again over Wethersfield's par-71 6,548-yard exacting course.

Much of the gallery will be watching Palmer, 32, but not everybody. There'll be plenty of rooting for Gene Littler, the National Open titleholder; Gary Player, the Masters winner from Johannesburg, South Africa; former ICGO champions Ted Kroll and Gardner Dickinson Jr., and Doug Sanders, the nation's third top money winner, among others.

Wednesday, in the professional-amateur tourney, Palmer shot a so-so 74. Gay Brewer of Crystal River, Fla., and Bill Johnson of Phoenix, Ariz., led the pros with identical scores of 32-33-65, six under par.

Kart Races Have Over 40 Entries

Over 40 karts competed in racing at the Kartarama Thrillway this week despite threatening weather which cut the number of racers from northeast Missouri. A good turnout was on hand from the Sedalia area, Kansas City and Springfield, however.

The Gumbroski twins had stiff competition this week, but came back for their share of the winnings.

Hard luck boy of the week was Fred Doty. While in the process of repairing his kart, he was barely missed by a runaway car with brake failure which rammed into his kart and damaged it. During the race his kart went off the track and over the hill, causing a few moments of tension. Before the races were over he blew up his motor which is rated as one of the fastest on the track. In spite of Doty's bad luck streak, he still took second place in the Class A heat race.

In a "powder puff race" three ladies competed and Sally Taylor took first with Pat Twenter coming in second.

Other event winners were: Class A Heat Race — Willard Hill, Whiteman AFB, first; Ricky Yeager, Sedalia, second. Feature Race — Gary Abernathy, first; Ricky Yeager, second.

Class A Super Heat Race—Gary Wilkerson, Springfield, first; Dan Doty, second.

Class B Heat Race — John Hill, Sedalia, first; Harold Hammond, Sedalia, second. Feature Race — John Hill, first; Harold Hammond second.

Class B Super Heat Race — Al Wilkerson, Springfield, first; J. D. Taylor, Kansas City, second. Same winners in feature race.

Class C Heat Race — Frank Higgins, Houstonia, first. Higgins also took the feature race.

Adco, Optimist Vie Tonight For C' Championship

Rotary and Optimist emerged victorious from the first games of the Little League playoffs for the City Championship Wednesday night. Rotary defeated Lions in the first game 4-0. Winning pitcher was Ronnie Hodges, and the loser was Mike Wingate.

Optimist's Johnny McKinzie threw a two-hitter while his teammates gobbled up seven runs on seven hits to defeat Post 16, 7-1. Jim Vansell was the losing pitcher.

The two losing teams, Lions and Post 16, will play in the first game Thursday night, and Optimist and Rotary will play in the second game.

"C" team playoffs started at Housel Park Wednesday night with Adco defeating Lions 28-1 in a protested game. Arnst was the winning pitcher, and Embree was the loser.

Optimist defeated Rotary 6-5 in the second game at Housel Park. Prenger was the winning pitcher, and Hall was the loser.

Adco and Optimist will play for the City "C" Championship to-night at Housel Park at 6 p.m. Ralph Hamlin, president of Little League, will present trophies for first place in season play and for the City Champions.

Cole-Cooper Team Holds Narrow Lead

The Cole and Cooper trap shooting team is holding to first place in the Sedalia Rod and Gun Club trap shooting league. The team has been able to withstand several narrow attacks by other teams and at present clings to a five-rock lead.

With three more weeks to go the race for the championship is closing up. Anything can happen in the whole standing with only 74 clay pigeons separating the leaders from ninth place, while tenth position is 164 behind.

Nu-Way Cafe is pushing Cole and Cooper with 1069. The standings on down are: Bing's No. 2 1058; Cecil's TV 1051; Connor-Wagoner 1041; Ozark Feed 1034; Pepsi-Cola 1022; Bing's No. 1 1011; Broadway Lanes 1000; and B and J Gun and Radio 913.

In a special event in Skeet shooting, John Rose broke a perfect score of 25 rocks out of 25 to win the trophy. Rose had the distinction of being the first shooter to have a straight run of 25 on the new Skeet field.

Bernard Dove and Bill Stelljes tied for first position in the Derby shoot, each knocking down 23 out of 25. Bob Dalton scored second with 22; while a three-way tie came about for third spot between Vernon Arnett, Dick Cole, and Claude Luttman, each hitting 21.

The Junior League shooters broke 18 out of a possible 50 targets in their shooting a week ago. The Junior League boys are being coached by members of the club interested in trap and skeet shooting.

High Money Winner Is Retired to Stud

CHICAGO (AP) — Six-year-old Bye Bye Bird, whose earnings of $554,237 since 1957 are an all time high for harness racing, has been retired to stud.

"The horse has accomplished everything possible," said his owner, Chicago industrialist R.C. Larkin. "He has established himself as the sport's money-winning champion and I can see nothing that can be added to his reputation by continuing to race."

Larkin said Bye Bye Bird, who shares with Adios Butler the world mile record for pacers on a half-mile track at 1:57 4-5, will be put to stud within a week at Larkin's Poplar Hill Farm near Lexington, Ky.

Since he started racing in 1957, Bye Bye Bird has been first 50 times, second 24 and third 9 in 101 starts. He has won 10 races worth $40,000 or more.

Junior Has Big Day

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Seventeen-year-old Arthur Ashe of St. Louis, Mo., took on a man-sized job in the International Jaycee Junior Tennis Tournament here Wednesday.

He downed three singles opponents, then joined Jim Parker, also of St. Louis, to blank a Nevada doubles team 6-0, 6-0. The Ashe-Parker team is top seeded in boys competition.

Green Practicing With Vic Seixes

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. (AP)—Mike Green, the onetime Davis Cup candidate, now is semi-retired from tennis competition. But he's doing the next best thing—practicing regularly with former Davis Cup warhorse Vic Seixes.

"I'm living in Philadelphia now," said Green, a graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania. "I've only played two tournaments before this but practicing with Vic has kept me sharp."

Green was sharp enough Wednesday to eliminate seeded Jack Douglas, the Marine corporal from Santa Monica, Calif., 6-1, 6-3, and advance to the quarter-finals of the Eastern Grass Court Championships against Frank Froehling.

The 19-year-old Froehling, Coral Gables, Fla., also scored an upset, 6-8, 6-2, 6-3 over seventh-seeded Whitney Reed, the veteran campaigner from Alameda, Calif., in the other upper-half quarter-final.

Everyone Speculates About Record

NEW YORK (AP) — Everyone it seems, from former President Herbert Hoover down, is excited about the possibility of Mickey Mantle or Roger Maris of the New York Yankees breaking Babe Ruth's record of 60 home runs in 1927.

Neither got a home Wednesday as the Yankees beat Los Angeles 2-0 for their seventh straight, but Mantle, with 43, and Maris, with 41, both are ahead of the Babe's record pace 34 years ago. Many think Mantle has the better chance of erasing the Babe's mark, but will he?

Only five years ago Mantle seemed to be in equally good position to become the major league's new home run king. He had 42 homers after the Yankees' 112th game on Aug. 14. At the end of August he still was ahead of Ruth's 1927 pace with 47 homers. But in September he added only five and finished with 52.

Once again Mantle is face to face with the task of beating the Babe's 17-homer September production that, over the years, has balked such other famed sluggers as Jimmy Foxx, Hank Greenberg, Lou Gehrig, Hack Wilson, Ralph Kiner and Willie Mays.

Only Kiner came close to Ruth's September output, Ralph belted 16 in that month when he compiled his 54 HR total in 1949. Foxx and Greenberg, each of whom belted 58, are next in September production with 12. However, the year Foxx got his 58 —1932—he made only 10 in September. He got his 12 in 1938 when he finished with 50. That was the year Greenberg got his 58 and with the record in his grasp, went without a homer in his last five games.

Hits First Grand Slam

Drysdale Figures In Dodgers' Win

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was little more than a month ago that the Los Angeles Dodgers were third in the National League race and one of their biggest flops was Don Drysdale. Now they're on top and one of the big men in the comeback is Drysdale.

In the past five weeks, Drysdale has won as many games as he did in the first 2½ months of the season—and the Dodgers have barged into a one-game lead over Cincinnati.

Drysdale looked like a young man in a hurry to get the job done Wednesday night, hitting his first major league grand slam, checking Milwaukee on four hits and striking out 11 for his 10th victory as the Dodgers walloped the Braves 8-3.

The Reds, after losing four of their last five, got back on the beam again against Philadelphia, 5-0, for a 16-0 record against the Phils. That's one shy of the NL record for consecutive victories against one club in one season, set by Pittsburgh against the Reds in 1936.

San Francisco defeated the Chicago Cubs 6-5, on Matty Alou's ninth-inning homer, and St. Louis stopped Pittsburgh 4-0, on a grand slam by Julio Javier.

In the American League, New York beat Los Angeles 2-0 and stayed three games ahead of the Detroit Tigers, who won 8-2 at Chicago. Kansas City edged Baltimore, 2-1; Cleveland defeated Washington 3-1, and Boston beat Minnesota 5-4.

Drysdale (10-6) had trouble only from Joe Adcock, who drove in all of the Braves' runs with a pair of homers. The first tied it 1-1 in the second inning, but Drysdale then broke it up with his bases-loaded shot—the 18th home run of his career and fourth of the year—off Don Nottebart (3-6). It was the first slam by a Dodger pitcher since Erv Palica connected for one back in 1950.

Cards Rap Bucs For 7 in a Row; A's Defeat O's

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The rampaging St. Louis Cardinals made it seven victories in a row Wednesday night with a 4-0 defeat of the Pirates at Pittsburgh. Julian Javier's grand-slam homer did the trick.

Curt Simmons and Ed Bauta combined for a seven-hit shutout of the Pirates.

The Kansas City Athletics defeated the Orioles 2-1 at Baltimore.

Javier's grand-slammer was the first of his career.

Jerry Walker of the A's allowed his former teammates only four singles. It was his first complete game of the season.

The Baltimore run was unearned. Ron Hansen singled and scored in the seventh when Marv Breeding's grounder was fluffed by both third baseman Wayne Causey and left fielder Jay Hankins.

The A's scored a run in the second on back to back singles by Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe. They added another in the seventh when Jim Rivera singled, stole second and continued to third on a wild throw by catcher Gus Triandos. A double by Leo Posada sent Rivera across.

Cured of his 1960 allergies, and armed with a new no-windup delivery, Walker may be ready for a "comeback" at the age of 22.

As a member of the Orioles in 1959, he had an 11-10 record while posting a fine 2.92 earned run average.

Counted on to be an Oriole mainstay last year, the young Oklahoman was bothered by various allergies and never could get untracked. He pitched only one complete game and posted a 3-4 record.

His mound troubles continued this season after he was traded to Kansas City on April 12. Until he whipped his old teammates Wednesday night, Walker had failed to complete 14 previous starts and his ERA was 5.46.

Jerry used the no-windup delivery for the first time, reverting to the orthodox method on several pitches "just to get my rhythm back."

Walker said he decided to junk the windup after being told by several players he was tipping his pitches.

"I had the same problem last year," he said, "but I thought I had it licked. After being told again this season, I started practicing the new delivery in the bullpen."

Double Rounds Set Today In Women's Trans-Mississippi

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — A double round of match competition was scheduled today in the championship flight of the Women's Trans-Mississippi Golf Association Tournament at Eugene Country Club. Afternoon quarter finals were to follow eight morning matches.

Paired in the first match were Sandra Spuzich, Indianapolis, Ind., upset victor Tuesday over medalist Sherry Wheeler, and Jo Anne Gunderson, 1960 national intercollegiate and USGA amateur champ from Kirkland, Wash.

Miss Spuzich scored her second break one-up victory Wednesday when Clifford Ann Breed, Alexandria, La., missed a three-foot putt on the 19th hole.

Several tourney favorites, including Judy Eller, Old Hickory, Tenn., 1960 Trans-Miss runner-up and 1959 medalist, advanced with second round victories Wednesday. Miss Eller, consulting her caddy for advice on several shots near the green, overpowered Mrs. Shirley Sigmund Mitchell, Chico, Calif., 4 and 3.

NAACP Drops Its Request For Player Boycott

ROANOKE, Va. (AP) — The segregated crowd at Saturday night's Baltimore Colt-Pittsburgh Steeler football game here will see Negro players in action, after all—because the game is a charity affair.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, concluding that the charitable aspect of the game outweighed other considerations, late Wednesday withdrew its request that 19 Negroes on the two National Football League teams boycott the contest.

Promptly thereafter, NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle gave the official go-ahead for the Negro players to compete, albeit reluctantly and with a warning that in the future he might not be so agreeable.

Both the NAACP and Rozelle obviously were influenced by the fact that charitable receipts of the game in Victory Stadium will be used to help both white and Negro sandlot teams in this area.

Balance Sheet of Strategic Weapons Shows Plus on the Side of the West

EDITOR'S NOTE: Don't let the Russian orbital flight deceive you as to the real balance of military power between the U. S. and the U. S. S. R.

Berlin is the "ball" in the international power game. Keep your eye on it. And here is an exclusive sizeup of the comparative strength of the two antagonists. It is based on information from the most reliable quarters in Washington.

By RAY CROMLEY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — BERLIN BALANCE SHEET:

The U. S. has more intercontinental missiles than Russia. The U. S. has more intercontinental bombers.

A surprise Russian missile attack on the U. S. would open the Soviet Union to destruction. By the time the Berlin crisis probably will hit its peak, between Sept. 15 and Oct. 1:

The Soviet Union will have a maximum of 47 operational ICBMs, but probably less than 38.

The U. S. will have 45 operational ICBMs.

Russia will have no known Polaris-type submarines in operation.

The U. S. will have four operational Polaris subs with 64 missiles. A fifth could be put into action, making a total of 80 missiles.

Russia will have less than 150 operational intercontinental bombers. By refueling and careful planning, the Soviet might squeeze another 350 medium bombers into a first-round attack on the U. S.

The U. S. has something over 1,700 strategic bombers.

The recent touted air show in Moscow actually indicated the Russians were further behind the U. S. than American experts had believed. The badly-hooped Russian naval review indicated the Russian surface navy is behind the times.

Chairman Khrushchev has been having missile troubles. His first-line missiles haven't proved as good as he'd hoped. He's now pushing the development of a new series. He hasn't built the several score of ICBMs U. S. officials were predicting as late as January this year.

He has been having atomic troubles, too. His first atom-powered ship hasn't worked out as expected.

So Khrushchev has been concentrating more on research and development, less on production. This produce-less, research-more policy may make trouble for the U. S. several years in the future. But right now, here's the situation:

Suppose Khrushchev planned a sneak attack. Even by mid-September he would have barely enough intercontinental missiles to throw one at each U. S. ICBM pad. With today's accuracy and reliability, he would knock out less than half, maybe no more than a third, of the U. S. ICBMs. He would have completely shot

Blackwater Folk Have Out of State Guests

(matter of fact)

When we observe Father's Day, maybe we should doff our hats to the father ostrich as well. Male ostriches are good fathers even before the eggs are hatched. They take turns with female ostriches sitting on their eggs. Thoughtful father-to-be takes the night shift.

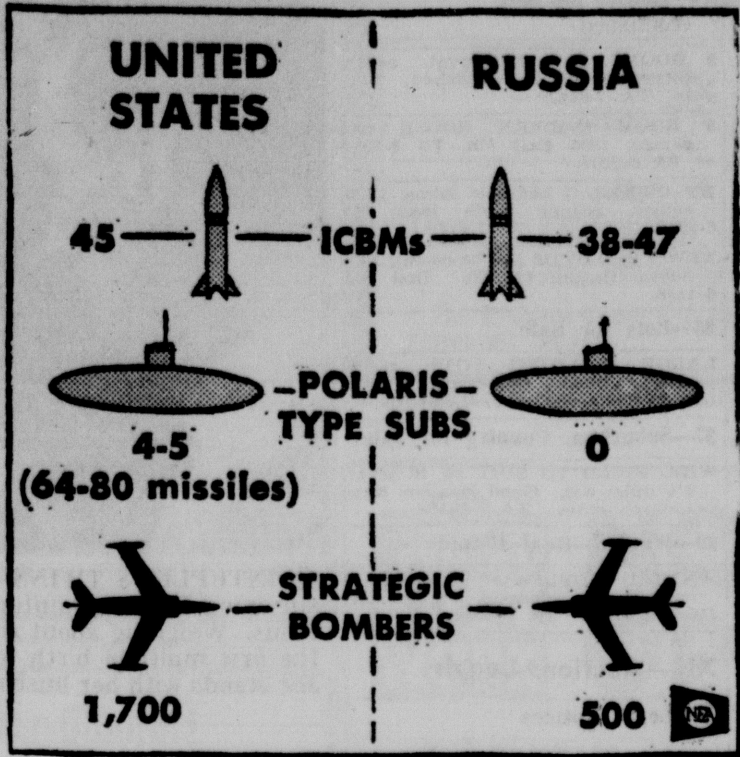

CHART illustrates relative strength of the U.S. and U.S.S.R. in three major strategic weapon systems.

his intercontinental missile war. He wouldn't have any left for the big U. S. bomber bases.

That would leave the five Polaris submarines with their 80 missiles and the 1,700 U. S. Strategic Air Command bombers free to strike at Russia.

If Khrushchev chose to hit the bomber bases with his few ICBMs he would leave the U. S. missiles and most of the bombers free to attack. He just doesn't have enough for both.

The 450 Russian bombers would have to fight through waves of U. S. and Canadian fighters all the way down from northern Alaska and Canada. Then they would be hit by Nike Hercules and Nike Ajax batteries. Because of the hours of warning and the large number of fighter and missile waves the U. S. would be able to pour at the attackers in that relatively long period of time, some experts calculate that no more than 90 of the planes would get through.

These 90 would be able to do great damage. But if they were to save Russia from terrifying destruction, they would have to concentrate on the 20 to 30 missile bases the Red ICBMs had missed and on 46 U. S. strategic bomber bases. They would have to hit a first full of key fighter bases for their own survival. They would have to strike important missile and airplane plants. This adds up to well over 100 crucial targets which would take a minimum of 100 bombers getting through and all aiming true. This is highly unlikely.

Only a handful of the Russian intercontinental bombers are now believed equipped with air to ground atomic missiles that could travel hundreds of miles. This means that most of the Red planes would have to fight their way almost to the target to be effective.

If the Reds were to divert any of their planes to the wanton destruction of cities, they would be forced to leave unhit the key targets that could continue to rain destruction on the Soviet Union. Even if the U. S. bombers had taken off, the Soviet bombers would have to attempt to destroy those bases to keep the U. S. bombers from making second, and third and fourth strikes on Russia.

With their first missile and air raid over, the Russians would not have enough planes left for a second strike at the continental U. S. That is, if 90 planes did get through, few of them would be able to fight their way back to Russia after they dropped their bombs.

Russia would then be wide open to strikes by the 80 Polaris missiles and by the 1,700 strategic bombers, a goodly number of which can carry two H-bombs. Even if the Russian air defenses hit U. S. bombers as hard as the Russians would be hit in North America, there would be enough U. S. planes left for a series of raids.

But more U. S. planes are likely to get through percentage-wise. Many are faster, fly higher. A good many carry Hound Dog missiles which would allow them to stand off 500 miles and fire at Russian targets.

But this is not all. Russia is ringed with U. S. and Allied air in Western Europe. U. S. carriers are in the Pacific and in the Mediterranean. The U. S. has well over 2,000 fighter bombers and carrier based bombers capable of carrying H-bombs to Russia. Many of these would live through the Red intermediate-range missile and medium-range bomber and submarine attacks. Several hundred would be available for strikes on Russia proper.

This is not the sort of prospect Nikita Khrushchev would likely relish. If he looks at the mathematics of the situation — as you have just done — he must clearly see that he is out-pointed the minute he decides to trade the conference table for the battlefield.

MISSOURI STATE FAIR

August 19-27

Aptly described as an annual showcase for Missouri agricultural and industrial accomplishments, the Missouri State Fair can also be termed an exciting and educational Summer Spectacle. It's packed with fun. It's a wholesome event for all the family... and Missourians are justly proud of their State Fair, one of the best in the Nation.

Fair Manager of the state-owned extravaganza is W. H. (Chubby) Ritzenthaler. The Fair is an activity of the Missouri Department of Agriculture, Don Thomason, Commissioner. Entertainment abounds at the State Fair in the famed Grand Circuit Harness Racing, the nerve-tingling Big Car and Stock Car races, the Midway Carnival. Plan now to attend.

Mynah Bird a Wolf

Swans, Vodka and Martini, Take Chasers for a Walk

By ANDREW MEISELS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Today's stars of the animal comedy are two swans, Vodka and Martini, who have a weakness for noodles.

Supporting actors include a faithful German shepherd and a mynah bird who is a wolf.

Swan Song

It was a pleasant day, and the swan family that lives in the pond behind the home of Mr. and Mrs. Myron Cohen in Lawrence, N.Y., decided to take a walk.

Names GOP To Assembly

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP) — Charles E. Boineau, 37, a trucking firm executive, has shattered a nearly century-old tradition by winning election on the Republican ticket to South Carolina's General Assembly.

When Boineau takes his seat with the Richland County delegation next January, he will be the first Republican in the legislature since Reconstruction days. He will be out-numbered by Democrats in the General Assembly by 169-1.

On the basis of unofficial returns, Boineau got 7,333 votes to 5,940 for Democrat Joe Berry Jr., who had the support of South Carolina's Democratic party organization.

There were no local issues in the special election to fill a vacancy. The choice, personalities set aside, was simply between a man who called himself a Republican and one who said he was a Democrat. All three candidates styled themselves conservatives.

Nagasaki Residents Honor Their Dead

NAGASAKI, Japan (AP) —

Hundreds of small candle-lit paper lanterns for the dead were cast adrift on Nagasaki Bay tonight marking the 16th anniversary of the atomic bombing of Nagasaki.

Sirens and bells sounded throughout the city as hundreds of thousands joined in a minute of silent prayer at 11:02 a. m., the time the bomb was dropped Aug. 9, 1945.

The swans — Vodka, his wife Martini and their four children, the chasers — waddled from the pond and went out to discover the world.

Before long, they were zig-zagging around Empire Blvd. in nearby Far Rockaway as motorists swerved to avoid them. They seemed impervious to it all, even to the roar of planes taking off from New York International Airport.

The swan family finally ambled onto the lawn of Dr. Alfred A. Solomon and stopped for a rest.

With the aid of police and some noodles from her kitchen, Mrs. Solomon coaxed the swans to her porch. There they were, nibbling on the noodles, when Mrs. Cohen arrived to fetch them.

"I guess," she sighed, "they got a little tired of wading in the pond all the time."

Tradition Upheld

Several months ago, Gianni Terret of Genoa, Italy, gave his pet German shepherd to a sailor.

The dog — Tarzan — sailed aboard a tanker with his new master around the Italian boot-heel, up the Adriatic coast to Trieste. But German shepherds have a tradition about these things, and Tarzan disappeared after the tanker put in at Trieste 50 days ago.

Terret was walking by a pool in Genoa that he often visits when up rushed the dog, barking joyously.

The 6-year-old animal had lost a lot of weight and was speckled with mud from a 300-mile hike through mountainous northern Italy.

Terret took the dog to a veterinarian for treatment and vowed never to give him away again.

Mynah Offense

A young woman passed the store of Benjamin Blum in Detroit and got a wolf-whistle she considered offensive. She stepped into a telephone booth and called police.

Officers who responded demanded an explanation from Blum's son, Stanley, 29. Young Blum pleaded innocent. He pointed to the seven talking mynah birds his father keeps in the store window and explained that they whistle too.

Police and the complainant accepted the explanation. The birds kept mum.

Youngster Has Objections To His Spankings

WASHINGTON (AP)—A letter from a New Jersey youngster to Rep. Peter Frelinghuysen Jr., R-N.J., read:

"Dear Congressman (sic), I think that teachers should not hit a child under any circumstances (sic)."

In his answer today, Frelinghuysen said — obviously with tongue-in-cheek — that if Congress passed a subsidy for increasing teachers' pay it would undoubtedly look into teachers' disciplinary methods, including spanking.

But in the meantime, he told the youngster, "I am sure that good behavior on your part will eliminate the necessity for your teacher to resort to any such extreme methods."

The congressman declined to reveal the lad's name.

Question Man On Whereabouts Of Former Wife

FAIRVIEW, Mo. (AP) — Elmer Lee, 36, was arrested at his mother's home Tuesday and taken to Joplin for questioning about the disappearance of his former wife.

The former Dottie Lee married Claude Bellah after she was divorced from Lee. Bellah reported his wife missing in July, 1959. A purse identified as belonging to Mrs. Bellah, a blood-stained scarf and a man's blue jeans were found later in a field in Bates County, about half way between Joplin and Kansas City.

Officers quoted Lee as saying

Tuesday he last saw his former wife in Carthage in July 1959 and she was with another man.

Newton and Barry County officers arrested Lee on a warrant charging unlawful flight to avoid prosecution on a burglary charge. Fairview is near the Newton-Barry county line about 35 miles south east of Joplin.

Auto Negotiations Affect Most Products, Consumers

DETROIT (AP)—The auto contract negotiations may be far away from your community, but they are important to many people in many places—for instance, you.

That goes whether you own a car or know anyone in an auto plant or an auto company office; whether you are in ranks of management or labor. What comes from the bargaining may affect the size of your paycheck or pay-roll, whatever its source. Past settlements have affected prices of thousands of seemingly unrelated items.

Few industries are as widespread as the auto. General Motors, for instance, operates 129 plants in 71 different cities in 19 states. Often an auto plant is the largest employer in a city or an area—and that makes auto wages a concern of the merchant, banker and builder, and nearly everybody else.

Combined, the auto plants themselves employ more than half a million. But stretching back through the executive suites, assembly lines, supplier plants and raw material sources, the Automobile Manufacturers Association figures one out of every seven persons in the country owes his job to the auto and related industries such as transportation and gasoline.

But these aren't the only persons affected. Many others get wages patterned after those of a fender-bender in Kenosha or Mahwah or Muscle Shoals or Van Nuys. Almost for certain, the wage pattern will follow in aircraft and farm machinery plants. The official name of the union usually shortened to UAW is: International Union, United Automobile, Aircraft and Agricultural Implement Workers of America. The steel, electric and other industries have followed in the past the patterns established in auto contracts.

The cost of living escalator was introduced first in auto-labor contracts in 1948. Literally millions of dollars in wages have ridden up it since then, including 54 cents of the current average auto wage of $2.80 hourly.

It also was in 1948 that the industry decided, under union prodding, that workers were entitled to share in job-saving, cost-saving technological advances—known today as automation.

So, the "annual improvement factor," now a fixture in wage contracts in many industries, was developed. In the auto industry it carries an automatic yearly increase of six cents hourly or 2½ per cent, whichever is greater.

It has added 64 cents hourly to auto wages.

In some industries they're not called "escalators" or "improvement factors," but they are there in some form—in the contract.

In 1950 the auto workers powered their way with a 100-day strike, among other things, to a funded pension plan—one in which pensions are guaranteed at 65, even if the company folds like Kaiser-Fraser or Hudson Motors.

In 1955 came supplemental unemployment benefits, referred to generally as SUB. This now guarantees a laid-off worker enough on top of governmental unemployment insurance to give him 65 per cent of his normal take-home pay for 26 weeks—half a year. It has been copied elsewhere.

Along the way, too, severance pay has made its appearance. Now if an auto plant moves elsewhere a worker can follow his job or obtain separation pay based upon his years of employment.

When auto workers reach 65 they may retire on both a company-paid and Social Security pension. They must retire, current three-year contracts say, at age 68. After 15 years auto workers have a so-called vested interest (unrevocable right) to pensions at 65, based upon years of employment.

If your disputes between management and labor are settled by a full-time impartial umpire, then you have something that came in the auto industry way back in 1940.

If you know a white-collar auto office worker—you know a fellow whose pay is geared at least to some extent to that of the blue-collar man on the assembly line.

Advances in production worker contracts usually seep up to the top. Differentials between white-collar and blue-collar pay scales generally are maintained. The office worker is getting a cost of living allowance in his paycheck, too, and some other items that are as routine along the assembly line as the next car.

Thinks GNP Will Reach $535 Billion

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP)—Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg predicts the nation's income from goods and services—called the gross national product—will reach $535 billion in the final quarter of 1961.

He estimated it at about $515 billion now and $500 billion when the Kennedy administration took over in January.

"What this means is that we have had a substantial amount of recovery from the recession," he said.

He estimated the country needs a gross national product of $585 to $600 billion a year to avoid an intolerable level of unemployment.

Goldberg made the comments to newsmen as he waited to address the international convention of the United Association of Plumbers and Pipefitters.

In his speech to the convention—on his 53rd birthday—he reported the nation's missile and space programs lost only 209 man-days in July because of labor disputes.

More than a million man-days were worked in those programs in the month, he said.

The delegates adopted a resolution which directed each of the union's 745 locals to establish a political education committee.

Woman, 107, Admits Bubble Gum Craving

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP)—A woman who says she's 107 years old admits she's a bubble gum addict. Mrs. Petty says she has visited a doctor only once and that was eight years ago. She says she can recall vivid memories of the Civil War when she was a young girl in Ocilla, Ga.

On her birthday Tuesday, Judy Petty said "I chew about 100 pieces a month." A year ago bubble gum took her lost tooth but she won't swear off.

House With Absent Child Often Becomes Too Quiet

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Nothing empties a home more than an absent child.

Our home is in that plight now. Tracy Ann, our 8-year-old daughter, is spending a week in the suburbs visiting her two god-sisters, Nina and Leila Palmer. "A vacation from us will do her good—and maybe us too," my wife, Frances, said cheerfully when we left her. Like most mothers this time of summer, Frances can hardly wait for the school year to start again.

The first day of our vacation from our daughter wasn't bad at all.

"Isn't it restful?" said Frances. I had to admit it was restful—that first day.

But every waking hour in our home since then has brought a growing restlessness, a feeling of tension, a sense of something lacking.

Usually the apartment rings with sound from morning to night as Tracy and her playmates storm from one room to another. You can trail them by the bread crumbs they drop. They are laughing, weeping, feuding fiercely at their games one moment, playing happily together the next. Now it is strangely silent. You can hear the clock ticking on the wall. You can hear water drip from the air conditioner of our neighbor above down on the air conditioner outside our window. You can hear the wind pulse the door.

"I miss our mouse," says Frances. "It's so quiet it makes me nervous."

It makes me nervous, too. I walk into Tracy's room. It is too orderly. Her stuffed brown bear, Filigree, has that fixed look of loneliness all toys wear when they aren't in children's hands. Toys come to life only when they are picked up and held.

The empty room gives me an empty feeling.

No one there to remind, "Can't you ever learn to pick up your things? This room is a mess." No one to put a bandage on and say, "Don't cry, honey, it'll feel better in a moment."

But the one most restless of all is Lady Dottie, our cat. She mopes around the place saying "meow." She rubs against my legs. She leaps up into my wife's lap, pauses, then leaps down.

When none of us can stand it any longer, I go to the phone and call the suburbs and ask for Tracy.

"Lady Dottie says it's awfully lonesome here without you," I tell her craftily. "Don't you think it's about time?"

"I miss her, too," breaks in Tracy breathlessly. "And I miss you and Mommy, but, please, can't I stay a couple more days? I'm having a lot of fun, and—"

"Well, if you really want to," and I hang up reluctantly.

Tracy isn't homesick. We are sick at home without her.

But I guess the experience is a kind of necessary growing-up ordeal for us, a prelude to the longer time of emptiness when the child becomes an adult and goes away for good.

How do parents ever learn to endure that?

Excuse for Having No License Brings Sigh From a Judge

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP)—Patricia Devaney told the judge she didn't have her driver's license because she accidentally dropped it in a boiling pot of ham and cabbage.

Mrs. Devaney appeared in city court on charges of speeding and driving without a license. She said the license apparently dissolved in the pot.

The judge sighed, dismissed the license charge, and fined her $15 for speeding.

3 Parisians Given Help By a Judge

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP)—Circuit Judge William R. Collinson and other well-wishers helped three young Parisians get out of town Tuesday a jump ahead of the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service.

"I consider their jailing an outrage," said Judge Collinson. "If anyone arrests these boys in the state of Missouri they will be in contempt of this court."

Howard I. Major, district director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Kansas City said:

"On the basis of the information we had—that they were without funds and in violation of their status as visitors—it was our duty under the law to take them into custody."

"We aren't actively looking for them but I expect we'll hear from them again. We'll do what we can to help them. We just want to keep them out of trouble."

The three identified themselves as Sekfili M. Cherif, from Algeria, Gerd Remy, from near Dusseldorf in West Germany, and Jean Daniel Hivernault of Paris. They all said they are 22 and students at the Sorbonne in Paris.

They landed in Springfield Sunday, out of gasoline and American money, after answering an advertisement in New York and taking on the job of driving an automobile to Oklahoma City. They were to collect expenses at their destination.

An appeal to a church mission gained them free overnight lodging at a hotel and they were referred to the county welfare department. Miss Jean Heyle, welfare director, decided to check their status with the immigration service in Kansas City. Federal officials asked that they be detained and they were locked up in the Greene County jail.

Judge Collinson heard about their plight Tuesday and decided the first lawyer he ran into—his brother, E. Wayne Collinson—to intercede for them. Judge Collinson freed them on a writ of habeas corpus filed by his brother. The judge and County Assessor John Pickering traded them $4 for some francs and told them to get going.

An immigration officer arrived from Kansas City shortly to pick them up but they had disappeared.

Major explained the students were admitted to the country as temporary visitors. The law prohibits aliens in this status from taking jobs and cancels their permits if they become destitute.

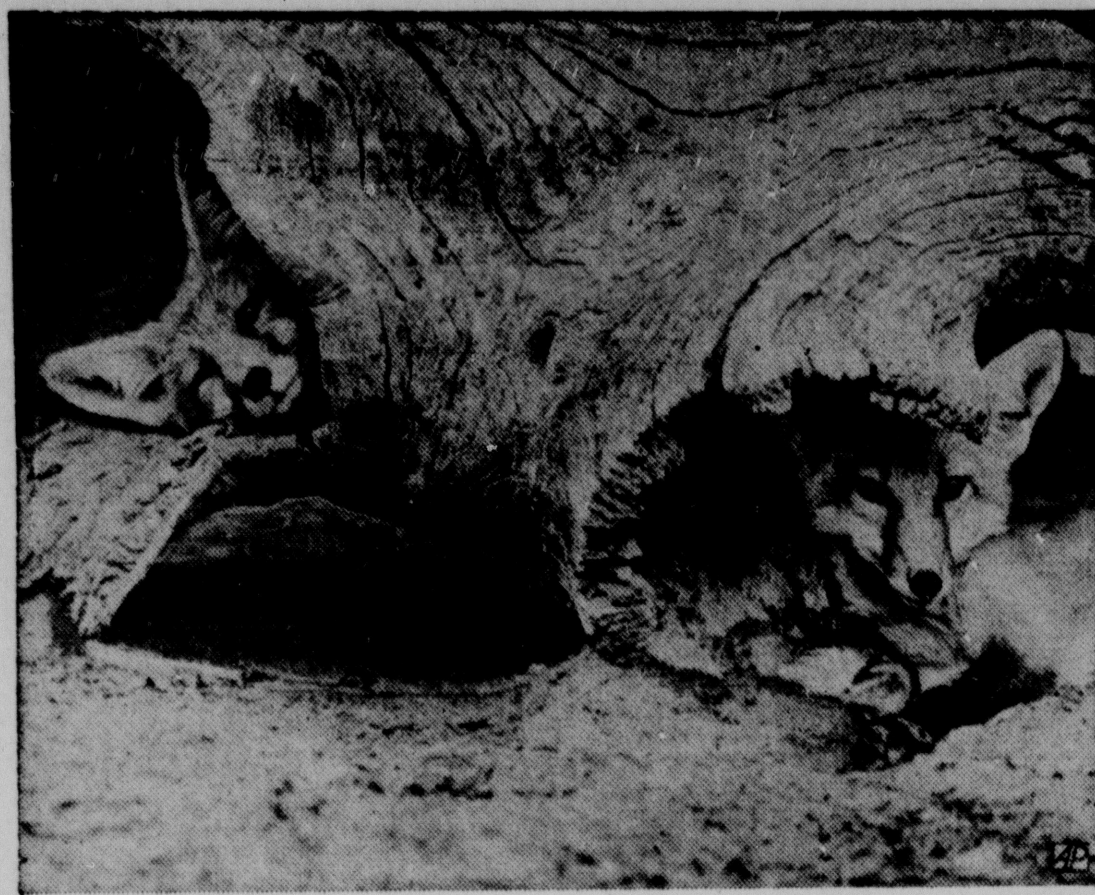

No Fishing Sign For Backyard Pool

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Ray Moore's suburban pool has everything for the wellbeing of its exotic goldfish except a "no fishing" sign.

Moore says he didn't realize one was needed—until he surprised a 14-year-old boy sizing up the pool.

"I came here to fish," the lad explained. "My friends said they got 20 nice ones from your pool."

Moore shoed the boy away and began counting his recent losses: 72 large fantail goldfish, six to eight inches long.

FOXY FELLOWS—The temperature was in the 90's and these two young foxes played peekaboo with a photographer from the cool recesses of a hollow log at the zoo in Bismarck, N. D. Animal at left barely left off an afternoon nap to see what was going on.

Soviet Happenings Affect Stock, Bond Market In US

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst
NEW YORK (AP)—Soviet Premier Khrushchev's threats and Soviet space triumphs have had their effects on both the stock and bond markets. Stock prices have risen and bond prices have dropped.

U.S. moves to meet the Berlin crisis are setting off a new wave of government spending. And traders conclude that this, on top of a business recovery already under way, could mean at least a moderate boom.

From there the thinking goes by easy steps: A boom will aid many companies and make their stocks more valuable. It might lead to more inflation, making stocks a good hedge, and making bonds with their fixed returns less attractive.

Also with the government going in for deficit financing, there'll be more bonds available to the market—so yields will have to be higher if bonds are to sell.

And if business booms, more corporations may be offering securities to finance expanding activities, or borrowing more from the banks. So interest rates will rise. This will depress prices of outstanding bonds, with lower fixed rates.

It's true that in the last week or 10 days stock prices have risen and some bond prices took a tumble.

But a few cool voices are being raised to warn against jumping too fast to conclusions about either.

Economists of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York note that productive capacity greatly exceeds total demand. So there is still quite a way to go before there will be any great pressure on business to abandon its current policy of hand-to-mouth inventories. Nor is industry at the moment under pressure to expand facilities. All but the most specialized defense demands can be supplied by existing resources.

Bond dealers hold that business seems sure to improve—with increased government spending adding to the certainty. This they say will lead, as usual, to a rise in interest rates.

Yields are already rising. On some US government bonds they are now the highest in more than

Peso Squeeze Tightens On Cuban People

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro's government will return a maximum of only 10,000 pesos each to most Cubans who turned in larger sums during the currency exchange he ordered over the week-end.

The prime minister announced in a TV address Tuesday night that cash turned in above that amount has been confiscated because it was hoarded in violation of a law issued in May.

Castro said an exception is being made for old persons and cripples who would be allowed to draw up to 20,000 pesos.

The Cuban government values the peso officially at $1, its value before Castro revolutionized the economic system. It is worth about 20 cents on free money markets abroad.

The government last weekend suddenly closed Cuba's borders to all travelers and ordered all Cubans to exchange their pesos for a new currency issue. Heads of families were allowed to exchange 200 pesos at the time. The balance of their old money was deposited in special accounts.

Castro said 1,000 pesos now may be withdrawn immediately and the balance of the accounts may be withdrawn — up to the 10,000-peso maximum—at the rate of 100 pesos a month. The aged and cripple may draw 300 pesos a month.

Castro estimated that 3,000 persons deposited more than 10,000 pesos each. It was believed many others who had amassed large sums of cash did not declare it for fear of legal action.

The Sedalia Hairdresser Association entertained with a farewell party at the home of their president, Dorothy Boyd, for Irene Skaggs, who is moving to another city.

Mrs. Skaggs was presented with a gold necklace on which was engraved the emblem of the National Hairdressers Association. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Cuban Property Seizures Hit American Firms Hard

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP)—If you need an example of what happens when a totalitarian government takes over a country, Cuban Prime Minister Castro is up today with a fresh one.

A totalitarian government may be Fascist, Communist, whatever. Castro calls Cuba's own brand of socialism. The one thing in common is that the state is dominant, not its citizens.

First, large private property holdings are confiscated in one form or another, with or without vague promises of compensation later. American firms suffered the loss of millions of dollars in assets and sales this way. One estimate is that American-owned property on the island was worth $615 million.

Next, cash holdings are gathered in by the simple device of declaring the old currency void and issuing a new currency—but only up to a small part of the total that any person above the lowest income brackets might have. The government keeps all but a minimum of the amount turned in.

How much of a loss this will be to Americans is unknown. Most U.S. corporations and individuals presumably have put their pesos into other currencies or investments long since.

But doubtless many Cuban refugees here will suffer. Cuban leaders estimate that 400 million of the old pesos are held outside the island, and thus became worthless over the weekend. Castro says most of this was taken to the United States by refugees.

The Cuban moves are in the classic pattern. They enable the Castro regime to get its hands on the property and cash of all but the poorest citizens.

They also help to halt, at least temporarily, the impending inflation caused by a growing shortage of some goods and foodstuffs on the island, which could command high prices on the black market—if people had pesos with which to buy.

The peso officially has been carried as the equal of the Yankee dollar, and formerly was freely exchangeable on that basis. But of late one foreign exchange dealer in New York has been willing to pay only 16 American cents for one Cuban peso. It says it has kept the peso on its list only because it wants to maintain its record of dealing in all foreign currencies.

Trade with Cuba has dwindled to a trickle. The United States cut off imports of Cuban sugar. We now import only tobacco, fruit and sugar molasses. And we send Cuba only food, medicine and medical supplies.

The Cuban government has an estimated $3 million here in various assets. Individual Cubans, most of them refugees now, are said to have about $58 million. But these are valued in Yankee dollars and not subject to the Cuban peso confiscation.

Nine Survivors Of Bus Tragedy Back In States

NEW YORK (AP)—Nine survivors of the bus tragedy in Switzerland last week are back in this country with vivid memories of their brush with death.

Several credited an air pocket with saving them when their tour bus plunged from a rain-drenched road into the icy waters of Lake Lucerne.

"When I came to in the bus there was about a foot of air space," said Pauline Hudson of Altoona, Pa. "A girl rolled down a window and I got out."

Mrs. Hudson wept in speaking of her friend, Julia Schultz, also of Altoona. She was one of 16 American tourists who apparently died in the lake's icy waters. Only eight bodies have been recovered.

Two of the nine who arrived at Idlewild Airport Tuesday had been injured in the bus crash—Margaret Mitchell of Oxford, N.C., and Martha Isaacs of Washington, D.C.

Mrs. Mitchell, transferred by stretcher to a plane bound for Raleigh, N.C., suffered a fractured pelvis.

Mrs. Isaacs, badly bruised, traveled in a wheel chair. She was transferred to another flight for the last leg of her trip home.

Caroline Blair Crowther, 24, a Tampa, Fla., teacher, said "there was just enough of an air pocket in which to breathe. I really thought I was going to die."

Ten other survivors are returning by ship.

ONE TON OF LION-BURGER—Due to complaints of fishermen and fishing companies, the Alaskan Steller sea lion is being harvested for its meat. For years the sea lion has been preying on valuable fishing stocks. Since its meat is high in protein and there is demand for such meat from fur farms and fish hatcheries of the western and midwestern states, the Department of the Interior in Washington has announced it may be able to solve both problems at once. An experimental harvest in Alaska yielded more than 200 tons of high-protein ground meat. Sea lion meat harvesting could become a booming industry if a sharp reduction in the herd is deemed necessary in Washington.

Science at Work

Boosting Baby's Protein Intake No Help to Growth

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Mother's milk and how fast babies grow, ocean-borne seeds from the tropics and a new electronic interpreter are subjects for science at work:

Nature's Diet
You apparently can't boost the growth rate of a baby by increasing the amount of protein in the milk it receives.

Scientists have found that infants on mother's milk grow just about as fast as those on formulas of cows' milk which have twice or three times the amount of protein.

Nature conservatively has limited the amount of protein in mother's milk of most animals, scientists say. This benefits the mother whose body does not have to deprive itself of nutrients to feed the offspring. Other studies have shown the limited amount of protein leads to a healthier offspring as well.

One interesting sidelight: elephant's milk has about the same protein content as human milk. There are indications that the growth rate of the elephant in early life is similar to that of man.

Far From Home
New Zealand farmers living near Ninety Mile Beach found large numbers of tropical fruits and seeds washed ashore during the winter of 1956, carried there by the meandering ocean currents.

Scientists who received some of the seeds raised the resulting plants in greenhouses. One of the plants is now a 12-foot vine.

But the seeds would not have fared very well, if they hadn't had human help. Some of them were well rotted when they finally came to shore. Others probably would never have survived on the exposed sand dunes of Ninety Mile Beach.

Bi-Lingual Radio
Some 16 Venezuelan students at the University of Michigan can now converse with their professor without ever hearing his voice.

They wear portable, wireless radio units that permit them to speak and hear as well. When they have a question, they ask it in Spanish, and an interpreter receiving the question passes it on to the professor. The professor answers in English, and the interpreter passes the answer on in Spanish.

The students, equipped with earphones, hear only the interpreter in question and answer periods and in lectures. The device also has proved useful in adverse noise conditions, such as visits to factories.

Radio Wildlife
It is truly a modern world. Now wild animals, rabbits, raccoons, even pheasants and ducks, have been equipped with radio transmitters.

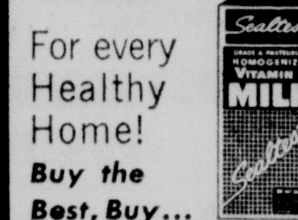

The transmitters weighing less than an ounce and only the size of a thimble have been built by University of Illinois scientists with the object of using radio signals to track wildlife.

Direction-finding radio receivers can trace a ground-moving animal for half a mile day or night. A duck flying half a mile high can be tracked for 60 miles. The new technique is providing new data on the movement and feeding of wild animals.

Blind Mother Saves Daughter In Home Blaze

VASHON, Wash. (AP)—Awakened by smoke Tuesday night, Joan Shaffer, 35, made her way from her bed in her small house west of here to that of her daughter, 5-year-old Laura, in another room.

Mrs. Shaffer wrapped Laura in a blanket, carried her outside, placed her on the ground, then returned to the house to summon firemen. But the telephone was dead.

Again she made her way through the smoke to the outside, gathered Laura in her arms and carried her to a neighbor's home.

Firemen who answered her telephone call quickly put out the fire, and discovered:

Mrs. Shaffer is blind.

Stuff Those 'Burgers And Grill 'Em

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

Ever stuff hamburgers and grill them outdoors?

Once we discovered how fine these burgers taste, we went to town and tried many combinations. Try some of ours or create your own.

Before stuffing, divide each pound of ground beef into eight portions and flatten them well. Arrange the stuffing over half the patties; press the remaining patties over the stuffing. Seal the edges thoroughly, working the meat together with your fingers.

HAMBURGER STUFFING COMBINATIONS

Drained flat anchovy fillets and small (cocktail size) drained pickled onions.

Stuffed hard-cooked egg halves; use one egg half for each burger. For these mash the hard-cooked yolks with a little butter or margarine and drained pickle relish.

Sliced water chestnuts with chopped mango chutney and crumbled crisply cooked bacon.

Dry onion soup mix. Use this just as it comes out of the envelope, adding a teaspoon for each hamburger.

Onion rings marinated in olive oil and wine vinegar and drained.

Grated cheddar cheese mixed with sliced pimiento-stuffed olives.

PLAIN HAMBURGERS on the grill? Not at all! These have savory stuffings and go well with French-fries.

FOR A GO-ALONG

Don't serve these stuffed hamburgers sandwiched into buns with the usual strong relishes or your eaters will miss the true flavor of the stuffing. Instead, have paper plates on hand and offer the burgers with French fries. To prepare the potatoes on the grill place a heavy skillet over hot charcoal. Add ¼ cup salad oil; heat until very hot. Add a couple of 9-ounce packages (or one 1-pound package) of frozen French fries. Stir often until the potatoes defrost, get very hot and brown. If you like crustiness, leave the potatoes alone on the grill until they achieve that state on one side, then turn with a wide spatula or pancake turner. This amount should keep six eaters happy.

Review Accident Rates

Important Traffic Court Role Cited By a Justice

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A United States Supreme Court Justice said today "there can be no more important court in this whole land than the Traffic Courts."

"In respect for law and respect for court indeed begins right at this level," Associate Justice Tom C. Clark said in a speech prepared for a symposium of the American Bar Association.

Six municipal judges from communities with outstanding Traffic Court programs swapped views on what the nation's traffic courts can do about one of America's gravest problems, the traffic law violator.

All agreed the Traffic Court judge should make the most of his educational opportunities. Judge George E. Oliver of Savannah, Ga., said in his prepared remarks most teachers and preachers would give a great deal to have so attentive an audience. "It would be a great waste of a fine opportunity not to take advantage of this," he said. "Remember that the time taken to explain to each person what he did wrong is a lesson to everyone in the court room."

Several felt moving violations such as speeding or those who run a stop sign should require personal court appearances.

"A review of the injury and death reports will disclose that no moving violation can be termed 'minor,'" said Judge Morris M. Rosenthal of St. Louis.

Judge Gerald E. McAuliffe of Denver, Colo., said only 38 per cent of the nation's high school students receive standard courses in driver education.

Judge McAuliffe said many a youngster, "because of the traffic accident casualty potential, may not live to grow up to enjoy the fruits of his studies regarding mathematics, science and flights into space."

The judges agreed traffic violators fall into three general categories of the "can'ts," "don'ts," and "won'ts." The Can'ts are those who have physical or mental impairment. The Don'ts lack knowledge of basic safe driving. The Won'ts are those who wilfully and flagrantly violate traffic laws.

Judge James A. Ravella of Warren, Ohio, said his experience is that the Won't usually is a youthful person attended by several friends.

"We have studied the reaction of his fellow mates while in the court and they hold this type of violator in high esteem and as a hero," Judge Ravella said. "Under these circumstances it would be a good psychological time for a court to make the impact that needs to be made. . . . By the imposition of a stiff penalty such as a jail sentence."

Judge P. James Demopolos of Oklahoma City said "methods of handling actual criminals cannot satisfactorily be applied to traffic violators."

"The old coercive methods of the criminal law — of clubbing people into submission — are not consistent with our purpose in traffic court, which is primarily to correct attitudes and not to punish, the said.

Judge Demopolos deplored the practice of automatic forgiveness for the first offender. "It has been shown," he said, "that the dismissal of all cases against first offenders merely encourages disrespect for the law."

Judge Oliver said quite often a jail sentence is the only possibility in the case of the Won't. "They have no consideration for their fellow man—drag racers, the hit and runs, the 90 mile an hour boys," he said.

For drunken drivers, Judge Oliver recommended a policy of stiff fines for first offenders — with no exceptions — and a jail sentence for repeaters.

Nixon's Money Raiser Invites GOP's to Dine

WASHINGTON (AP) — Clifford Folger, money raiser for Richard M. Nixon in the 1960 presidential campaign, has invited top Republicans to dinner at his Washington home Aug. 16.

Folger dispelled reports that some high level strategy might be in the making, describing the forthcoming affair as a "strictly social" one.

He said the dinner would honor Rep. William E. Miller of New York, recently elected chairman of the Republican National Committee.

"I doubt that we will talk any Republican politics," Folger said. "We'll just sit around and damn the Democrats."

Sweet Springs Fall Festival Dates Set

The Sweet Springs Fall Festival dates have been set for Sept. 14, 15 and 16. Marvin Hemme is general chairman.

Paul Hoffman, chairman of the parade committee, stated that conditions covering the Fall Festival Parade will start at 7:30 Friday night Sept. 15. It is hoped the parade will be entered by the different organizations of the surrounding community. There will be four classes again this year.

The classes are: Religious organizations, schools, farm clubs, 4-H, FFA, and civic clubs. Prize money will be the same in each class. First prize is $50, second prize $25 and third prize $10.

The parade will be formed at the Sweet Springs R 7 school grounds at 6:30 p.m. and the judging will occur during the parade.

Entries must be filed with the committee not later than Thursday, Sept. 14.

NO WAX CARTON EXCLUSIVE WITH ADAMS

Uses Transparent Polyethylene

The plastic that keeps other foods fresh and clean becomes a part of the familiar plaid Adams Milk carton through a miracle of science. Two separate sheets of thin transparent polyethylene go into the manufacture of the carton. These two sheets are fused under high heat and high pressure to insure a perfect seal. These two sheets of plastic protect the milk, so the milk inside is guaranteed pure until the silver seal is broken in your own home. There's no other milk carton in this area like the Adams half-gallon plastic carton — twenty years in the making! It's the perfect carton, made especially to protect the country-fresh goodness of this area's popular milk!

"POURS LIKE A PITCHER" IS COMMENT ON NEW PLASTIC ADAMS MILK CARTON

Thousands of housewives in this area are learning to pour milk a new, easier way with the new plastic milk cartons being introduced by Adams Dairy of Blue Springs, Missouri. It's easy to pour a teaspoonful or a glassful with this new patented pouring spout, protected by the silver seal. Pouring is easiest at the corner, where the milk flows out in an even stream; no bubbling, no surging—even children can do it. Let them have plenty of farm-fresh Adams Milk. "the freshest thing on your shopping list."

ADAMS MILK...

Now sealed in Bright plaid PLASTIC!

NO WAX TO FLAKE OFF!

PATENTED SEAL PROTECTS POURING SPOUT!

NO CHANCE TO LEAK!

The newest and best always comes to you from Adams Dairy! Only Adams offers this revolutionary plastic half-gallon milk carton! There's no wax on the carton, so it cannot flake off in your refrigerator or on your clothes. There's no wax in the carton, so it cannot flake off into the milk!

WE GUARANTEE you'll never switch back, once you've tried Adams Milk in the new wax-free carton!

You get the best from Adams...and you get it FIRST!

Available in all areas as soon as supply permits.

ADAMS DAIRY

Here in the peaceful countryside near Blue Springs, are pictured the giant machines which package Adams Milk in the new plaid plastic carton. This photo was taken just before a wall was knocked out of the Adams Dairy plant to start the installation of the various parts of the giant machines.

Truly a miracle of the modern age brings this latest mechanical marvel into the peace and quiet of a rural setting to ensure you the purest, freshest milk on your table day after day! Now your favorite country-fresh, country-pure milk is being packaged in the most modern machinery available anywhere!

Machinery to package Adams Milk in the new plastic container is in such short supply that all Adams Dairy cartons will not be available in the new carton, as soon as the machinery is available it will be used and you will be able to buy Adams Milk in the new plastic carton in all stores where Adams Milk is sold. Many agree that the new carton is a convenience in itself. The Silver Seal protects the spout until it is opened in your own home. Properly reclosed, the carton continues to protect the milk no matter how long the carton is stored and reclosed. The new carton at which Adams has been working has been sterilized at a temperature of 250 degrees so you can be sure of country-fresh milk is also the purest milk you can buy. The patent on the new carton is the result of research for milk cleanliness.

ADAMS MILK NEWS!

ethylene other and clean becomes the familiar plaid Adams Milk carton through science. Two separate sheets of thin transparent polyethylene go into the manufacture of the carton. TRY THE UNDERWATER TEST ON A CARTON OF ADAMS MILK

Take a new plastic-lined, and plastic-coated carton of Adams Milk and submerge it in a pan of water. Try it upside down and on its side. Leave it in the water if you wish. No milk can leak out, as this demonstration will prove. And what's more, no water can get in, because the well-known plaid carton is sealed completely with plastic! The pouring spout is protected, too, as this test will show, until the silver seal is broken!

HANDY FLAT-TOP CARTONS SAVE REFRIGERATOR SPACE!

Because of the unusual and advanced design of the new Adams Milk cartons, they actually save space in your refrigerator by allowing you to stack other food on the flat tops! Put several of these flat-top cartons side by side, and you have an additional shelf for smaller items!
